HER "SOLEMN PROTEST" ON EXCLUSION

Cabinet Decides Upon Text

the Prince Regent Before

AMBASSADOR IS TO RETURN HOME

Hanihara Will Depart After Delivery of Message—Tokio Press Bitterly Denounces Action.

By the Associated Press.
TOKIO, May 28.—Deep regret that the United States has enacted the immigration bill including a clause barring Japanese is voiced in an official statement issued late today by the Foreign Office.

The Japanese Government remains unshaken in its opposition to this discriminatory legislation against Japanese and they have instructed the Japanese Ambassador at Washington to lodge a solemn protest with the United States Government on this occasion.

The document describes the immigration bill and its effects upon Japanese entering the United States, and adds:

"Since the introduction of the Japanese immigration bill, the base of the present act, into the House
(the American House of Representatives) last December, the Japanese Government has earnestly demanded that the United States Government should rescind the bill, and therefore deeply regrets that the provision has been enacted in spite of their representations and vigorous and repeated efforts made by the President and Secretary of State of the United States to prevent the inclusion of the discriminatory provision in question."

The statement was issued late in the day, after an extraordinary cabinet session had approved the form of a protest, which was completed yesterday, and after two, Foreign Minister Matsui had asked and obtained the sanction of the Prince Regent to the forwarding of the protest.

Prince Regent Approves.
Foreign Minister Matsui today asked and obtained the assent of the Prince Regent to the forwarding of Japan's protest. The protest was placed upon the cables
for transmission to Ambassador Hanihara at Washington shortly after the Foreign Minister had left the Imperial Palace. The Ambasador will deliver it to Secretary of State Hughes.

The Foreign Office two days ago abled Ambassador Hanihara permission to return to Japan as soon as the protest against exclusion was finally dealt with.

This permission followed Hanihara's repeated requests for leave.
It is understood that the Ambasador is likely to leave Washington within a fortnight. Officially he is merely taking a vacation, but Foreign Office officials admit that there is no chance of his return to Washington. It would not be proper, they explain, to speak of resignation, since he is expected to remain in the foreign service. He is merely seeking a change of post.

Government Against Retaliation.
The signature of President Coolidge on the immigration bill does not settle the question of Japanese exclusion, from the point of view of the Japanese Government, it was indicated here.

Belief that the immigration bill, with its clause excluding aliens ineligible to citizenship, such as the Japanese, did not represent the sentiment of the American people as a whole, was expressed by a high official in an interview granted to the Associated Press today.

"We know that the present
American administration is opposed to the exclusion clause, both from the President's statement and the attitude of Secretary Hughes throughout the controversy," he asserted, "and we understand that conditions in this Congress have been abnormal. We believe that exclusion does not represent the will of the American people."

"We still hope something can be done to undo the action of Congress and wipe out this condition, which the Japanese consider unjust and an affront to our nation," he went on.

"Sustained by this hope, the Government is holding to a policy of restraint and dignity and is trying to maintain this attitude for the whole nation. We are doing our best."

MOVE FOR HADLEY TO PLACE
COOLIDGE IN NOMINATION

Washington University Chancellor Said to

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20-23 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, May 28.—Chancellor Hadley of Washington University, former Governor of Missouri and the "Man of the Hour" of the 1912 Republican convention, is looming large as the man who will place President Coolidge in nomination at Cleveland.

It has been learned here that Chancellor Hadley has been approached on the matter, and were it not for the fact that the Washington University commencement falls on June 12, the date for which the nominating speech is scheduled, there would be no doubt of his selection.

Former Gov. Hadley, it is said, felt that the should not be away from St. Louis on commencement day, first since coming to the university. He is said to have made this position known, but close friends of President Coolidge are reported as being so desirous

COOLIDGE SEEKS PASSAGE OF FARM RELIEF MEASURE

Steps Taken to Enact Compromise Bill Before Adjournment of Congress.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Steps were taken by the administration today to bring forth some compromise farm relief measure which can be passed before adjournment of Congress.

The growing complexity of the legislative situation surrounding agricultural aid bills was laid before President Coolidge by members of Congress. Chairman Snell of the House Rules Committee told the President that defeat of the McNary-Haugen farm export compensation bill in the House appeared certain.

Senator Gooding (Rep.), Idaho, advised the executive that the farm bloc, of which he is a member, and the insurgent Republicans, would demand enactment of some farm legislation, preferably the McNary-Haugen bill, as a condition to adjournment before the Republican national convention. Another Idaho member, Representative French, a Republican, also urged the advantage of action on the McNary-Haugen bill, but said the vote on the measure would be close.

238 AUTOMOBILE DRIVERS IN COURT IN LICENSE ROUND-UP

Those Not Having City Tags Assessed $3 Costs and Man Who Insists on Trial Is Fined $10.

Two hundred thirty-eight automobile drivers, arrested yesterday in a police round-up of city license delinquents, appeared in police court today.

Those who could exhibit receipts indicating they had licenses but had not affixed the plates were released, while the others, with one exception, were let off on payment of $3 costs. The one exception was in Judge Horne's Court, where a man insisted on trial. On a patron's statement that he had no license plate, the Judge assessed a $10 fine in addition to the $3 costs.

A total of 532 motorists were arrested yesterday. Of this number, 353 were charged with failure to have city license plates, while most of the others were charged with having obscured State license plates.

The campaign was continued today with a special order to watch for obscured and obstructed plates, particularly those on Ford automobiles where the crank-handle swings in front of the plate.

K. K. K. POLICEMEN FURNISH BOND ON MURDER CHARGES

Four Men Are Accused of Killing Jack Skelcher, Alleged Assailant of Glenn Young and Wife.

TWO 'SHELTON BOYS'
BEING HUNTED

They Are Named, With Third Man, as Taking Part in Attack on Klan
Dry Raider.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

HERRIN, Ill., May 28.—Four Ku Klux Klan special policemen, charged in warrants with murder,
for the killing of Jack Skelcher, alleged assailant of S. Glenn Young and Mrs. Young, in the revolver fight at the Herrin town limits Saturday, surrendered today at Marion, and furnished $10,000 bond each. Eleven business men of Herrin and Marion signed the bonds.

The four accused men are Roy
S. Eldridge and John Crompton, who have admitted that they fired at the car in which Skelcher was found dead, and at Skelcher's captured, known as "Brown," who was wounded in the leg and captured; Max Kratsch and Marion Collard, who have admitted only that they were at the scene of the shooting, under "special police" authority from Albert L. Jones, assistant Chief of Police of Herrin.
The warrants were sworn out by Albert Skelcher, brother of Jack Skelcher.

Two Suspects Hunted.

In the meantime, the Chief of Police of Marion, Ill., with the aid of the Klan's extensive secret service, are hunting for Carl and Earl Shelton, against whom charges of murder were filed in Clinton County, Mo., after the attempted murder, in the attack on Young and Mrs. Young, on the highway north of Okawville, Friday. Okawville is in Washington County, Mo., and the scene of the shooting is 300 feet north of the Kaskaskia River, which separates Clinton and Washington Counties.

A third warrant, issued by Presiding Attorney Murray of Clinton County, makes the same charge against "Brown," now in jail at Marion.

Chief Ford said today that "Brown" had been recognized as Marion as Charles Briggs, who is under indictment in this (Williamson) County with Burnie Shelton, a third of the "Shelton boys," on the charge of holding up a bank cashier and a young woman on the road between Herrin and Johnston City, and robbing them of $2000 and jewelry. Briggs and Burnie Shelton, after the indictment, failed to appear to give new bonds.

Machine Was Stolen One.

Ford also said that the Dodge car, in which Skelcher and
"Brown," or Briggs, were riding when the Klan special police attempted to halt them and fired upon them, has been found to be a stolen May 17 from W. A. Anderson of Carbondale. The engine numbers showed the car to be Anderson's, though another pair of license plates, also stolen, had been substituted for Anderson's.

State's Attorney Murray of Clinton County, at Carle, based the warrants obtained by him on information obtained from the wounded Young, two-gun leader of the Klan's liquor raiders, in a hospital at Belleville. Young was interviewed at the hospital by Deputy Sheriff Joe Ragan, son of Sheriff William Ragan of Clinton County.

Fisherman's Statement.

Murray said that besides the information given by Young, he obtained the statement of a fisherman who was near the scene of the attack on Young, and who described the Dodge car, in which Skelcher was riding, as having been stolen from a place near Marion, and took the license number, which was the same as that on the car now held at Herrin.

The information obtained by the State's Attorney at Carle was that four men, believed to be Skelcher, the two Sheltons and "Brown," left the scene of the attack on the Youngs in the Dodge car, but that near Nashville the county seat of Washington County, they were met by another car from Herrin, and that the Sheltons transferred to it. This car was said to have been not far behind that in which Skelcher was killed, but after the shooting of Skelcher and "Brown" it turned and went into Herrin by another road.

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 28.

THE ZR-3, now
nearing completion in a German factory, will be put this summer, said Admiral Moffat, chief of the Bureau of Naval Aeronautics, who visited the Admiral said, to prove the commercial practicability of rigid dirigibles.

BRITISH GOLD BAR
FISHERS' SEASON
OPENS FRUITFULLY

Fifty-Six More $7500 Blocks of Precious Metal Drawn Up
From Wreck of Laurotic.

Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, May 28.—The Admiralty salvage steamer Racer, after coaling, left the Foyle today on what may prove the last run to the scene of the wreck of the liner
Laurotic off the mouth of Lough Swilly, says the London Times.

It is only a month since the beginning of the fishing season, and the divers are very proud of their achievements in the time. Of the 154 bars of gold known to be lying among the debris, 90 feet below the surface, when last season's operations closed, they have succeeded in retrieving 56 bars to the surface.
Each of these bars (which measure 9 inches by 2 inches thick and 4 inches broad) is reckoned to be worth £180 (about $7500). When the Laurotic went down she was carrying 3211 bars, more than 24, 000,000.

Although there are fewer than 100 still to be raised out, the divers explain that the remainder may be more difficult to scrape together.
The strong-room in which the appreciable was stored for the voyage to London has long since been broken up, and the gold is scattered in pieces. When the divers resumed operations this year they found 24 of the smashed plates of the steamer lying over the wreck. The gold was known to be in this metal had to be shifted before the first of the bars could be searched for, but this year no drilling or blasting was necessary.

The divers are also proud that no serious accident has taken place during all the work. The only mishap that occurred at the start of this year's operation was the blowing up of the chase, which was the recompression chamber, which injured the face of a petty officer.
He was taken to Dunree Fort,
Lough Swilly, and has recovered.
The diver, who was in the last statement from her in jail.
Norma was working quietly at home after dinner yesterday. Her father, Levi Anderson, a respected farmer, and other members of the family left in an automobile for a visit to neighbors. Norma said she could not go because she had ironing to do. The Anderson home is two miles from town.

As soon as they were gone the girl telephoned to David Settles,
a taxicab driver in Farmington,
"Come out," she directed, "I want you to take me to town." About the same time the City Marshal of Farmington received a telephone message telling him that a criminal sought in the county was hiding on a farm some distance from town. The Marshal and his deputies departed on a wild goose chase for which they are now convinced Norma was responsible.

Face Covered, Revolver in Hand.
Settles drove Norma and the baby to the Steenburg Bank, at her direction. She got out and asked,
"Can I leave the kid with you?"
The taxi driver demurred, as little Ethel had begun to cry. He said,
"I don't know what to do with kids when they cry."

So Norma grabbed the child by the hand and walked into the new brick building, most impressive in town, which houses A. C. Steenburg & Co's bank. As she walked she pulled a white handkerchief over her face and drew a revolver from her holster under the long coat.

Clyde Steenburg, cashier, Miss
Agnes Robb, bookkeeper, A. C.
Steenburg, president, and one other employee were present when Norma and her baby walked in. They say they were too astonished to realize that a holdup was imminent. Nor-ma's coat was big for her, the billy of the cap had flipped up and ur-pressure of her black bobbed hair.
And little Ethel was sobbing and holding back.

"Hands up!" exclaimed the girl,
approaching the cashier's window,
which corresponds to the teller's station in a larger bank.

"The Quick About It."
"I'll wait on you in a minute."
Cashier Steenburg said, nervously.
"No. Right now," Norma insisted. And she tapped the grill-ing of the partition with the revolver. Then she pushed a sack under the window.

"Put all that money in this bag."

FARMINGTON, Ill., May 28.—
With a holstered revolver at her waist and wearing a man's cap and coat, 16-year-old Norma Anderson rode into town yesterday in a taxicab and held up the Steenburg Bank. Trading at her skirts as she entered the bank was her baby girl, 2 years old, who sobbed through the whole proceeding.

Today Farmington has its own bob-haired bandit. Or rather,
Lewiston has her, because Norma is in jail at the county seat. She was captured late yesterday afternoon after making off with $1158 in cash.

Residents are guessing about Norma today. All agree that a man put her up to it. Some think she was stealing for the father of her child, whom she has steady-fastly refused to name. Others believe that two men, who it is reported were awaiting Norma in Peoria, had sent her to hold up the bank. Thus far her hold up has not explained very satisfactorily
the Police From Town.

First she said, "The bank owed me money," but this was dismissed with smiles. Next she said, "I'm not telling," which has been the last statement from her in jail.
Norma was working quietly at
home after dinner yesterday. Her

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE.

BOY, 10, SAYS HE WAS WHIPPED AND CHAINED

Warrant Issued for His Stepmother After Andrew Sweeney Tells Story.

An iron chain, found stapled to a door post in the home of Andrew Sweeney, a laborer, 1242A South Third street, and bruises on the back of 10-year-old Ernest Sweeney, caused issuance of warrants today against Sweeney, and his wife, the boy's stepmother, on statements of the boy that he had been whipped and chained up for an hour and a half.

Later, after the boy had been examined and questioned, the circuit Attorney Sidney and Prosecutor Attorney Schneider, it was announced the warrant against the stepmother would be prosecuted under a common assault charge and for cruelty to children under 16 years old. The penalty, upon conviction, is either a Workhouse sentence of not more than a year, or a fine of not more than $1000.

Stepmother's Story.

The warrant against the father will be dropped in view of the boy's statement that only his stepmother whipped him. It had been reported the boy was chained and then whipped. This was denied by the stepmother, who said she used a light stick, about the size of a plaster lath, and then chained the boy to keep him from running away.

The boy admitted this was true. He said he was whipped with a board, but when pressed for a description, admitted it was such a stick as his stepmother described.
Ernest admitted he had played truant from school yesterday. "I run away from school a lot of times because they made me wear girl's shoes and the kids called me 'Sissy' at school," he said. He had on girl's shoes this morning. They had belonged to his 12-year-old sister, Catherine.

Police Notified.

Mrs. Sweeney said she had chained Ernest to keep him from running away before noon, when she sent him back to school with his sister. He ran away from his sister and went to a butcher shop, where the proprietor, hearing of the whipping, notified police.

The bruises were treated at city hospital last night and on the boy's statement that he did not want to go home he was sent to the House of Detention. There were six discolorations on his back, about the shoulders, and one on the chest,
when the boy was seen by reporters today. None of the bruises showed well, or that the skin had been broken. Ernest admitted he had played truant before he got the girl's shoes, but could not specify dates, and admitted that he had a number of fights with boys at school.

WARNING AGAINST
ST. PAUL CONVENTION

Says Communists Are Trying to Dominate Meeting of Farmer-Labor Forces on June 17.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Virtually demanding that the Republican and Democratic parties accept his standard of progressivism and stipulating that parties which have not the slightest possibility of being met, Senator Robert M.
La Follette, in a letter to Attorney-General E.A. Tamm, made public today, strongly intimated that he would be an independent candidate for the presidency.

Charles G. Ross, the Post-Dis-patch's chief Washington correspondent, in an article on the La Follette strategy, published in the Post-Dispatch May 18, said that La Follette would not bolt the Cleveland convention and would not run on a third party ticket burdened with candidates for minor offices, but probably would make an announcement of whether he would be an independent candidate for the presidency after the Democratic convention.

The La Follette letter which was upon the "farmer-labor-progressive" convention, called to meet in St. Paul on June 17, gave the Wisconsin Senator a chance to make known his attitude toward communism, to disassociate himself from the extreme left radicals of the workers' party, and to call for the support of the liberal middle classes.

Waiting on Conventions.
According to this letter, he will not act until he has seen what the Republican and Democratic parties do at their convention. His demands were made in the following words:

"The approaching Democratic and Republican conventions will demonstrate to the people whether either of these parties can and will purge itself of the evil influences which have long dominated them.
This cannot be accomplished by merely nominating some alleged progressive and filling the platform with misleading promises. It demands the elimination of monopoly control, the downfall of corrupt political bosses, the adoption of truly progressive principles, and the repudiation of those great campaign contributors who have in the past bought up both parties."

"If this is not done, a long-suffering and righteously indignant people will find in the coming campaign effective means, independent of both these old parties, to take back control of their Government and make it truly representative."

Introducing these demands and concluding ultimatum La Follette stated that there was no doubt that the people have come to understand that private monopoly controls the official machinery of both parties.

Progressives, the Wisconsin Senator contended, should take over the Government by the ballot and not by force. For that reason, they should avoid association with common lawless men who would overturn the Government by force.

Text of Letter.

The text of the letter, written
May 26 at Atlantic City, where the Senator is recuperating from a long illness, follows:

"My dear Mr. Ekmann:
I have your letter of May 17th saying that many of my friends in Wisconsin are anxious to know

MORE POLICEWOMEN URGED FOR ST. LOUIS

Conference of Civic and Social Organizations in Progress.

The necessity of more policewomen in St. Louis was stressed by speakers at a conference of civic and social organizations at Hotel Claridge today on protective work by policewomen.

The chief speaker at the morning session was Samuel B. M. Phelps, former president of the Police Board, who introduced Miss Laura Kinkaid, the first policewoman appointed here in 1918.

Miss Phelps introduced Miss Kinkaid as "Exhibit A" and told of the multiple duties that had fallen her as the first policewoman. Miss Kinkaid, who is now director of the Girls Protective Association of the Board of Religious Organizations, gave a short talk.

Dr. George B. Mangold, director of the Missouri School of Social Economy, and Leola John Drayden, in charge of police, also addressed the conference. Both stressed the necessity of increasing the present number of 18 policewomen.

Leola Drayden outlined the duty of the women officers, and characterized their work as splendid. As an example of this work he said one policewoman last night removed five young boys and five girls from a picture show in which they were misbehaving and annoying other customers. Miss Jessie P. Rindler, director of the Juvenile Protective Association of Chicago, addressed a luncheon of the conference. About 60 members of civic and social organizations and a number of the policewomen attended the conference. The afternoon session was devoted to round-table discussion.

GIRL'S CLAIM TO BABY DEPENDS ON SEPARATION DATE

Question for Court Is Whether Miss Lockwood Parted With Infant on Dec. 27 or Jan. 2.

DISCOVERED DEC. 28

Effort Made to Settle Case Through Testimony of Physician and Evidence Concerning Clothing.

Did Fannie Lockwood part with her baby boy, who was born Dec. 13, on Dec. 27 or Jan. 2? Largely upon that question her court fight to gain a foundling she claims as her own now depends. The case may be ended today.

For the foundling she claims was discovered at St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum the morning of Dec. 28. Because it was the first child abandoned there in 25 years, and because no infant was abandoned at other institutions in the city for a period of a number of weeks either way from this time, settlement of the date question may settle the larger problem of whether Judge Coe, in the Court of Domestic Relations, shall award the foundling to Miss Lockwood, believing it is her baby, or shall decree that it is not hers and shall remain in the custody of the Board of Children's Guardians, which gave it to a childless couple to rear.

Judge Coe has indicated he feels the coincidence of the date Miss Lockwood's baby was removed by its father, Thomas Poepping, former Municipal Opera chorus man, and the date of finding the foundling might be sufficient to warrant the conclusion the two babies are one and the same—if it is proved that Poepping took the child away from the Lockwood home, 4246 Delmar boulevard, on the evening of Dec. 27, rather than Jan. 2.

Testimony has shown that Miss Lockwood and her mother said, when the investigation to find the missing child was started, early this month, that Poepping "took the baby to a good home till we are married," on Jan. 3, but that after other facts were brought out the Lockwoods changed this date to Dec. 27. They explained that New Year's coming two days before the former date, and Christmas, coming two days before the latter, confused them.

Another Account.
Adding to the confusion, Edward W. Forster, lawyer, who said his information came from a client, testified yesterday that a foundling, which he inferred was the Lockwood baby, was abandoned either at St. Joseph's, St. Anthony's, or Bethesda. Foundling Asylum, or Bethesda Home, Jan. 3. Poepping had told the police he left his son at St. Joseph's after taking it from his home, Dec. 27. The St. Joseph's foundling was taken by the police to St. Ann's, then to city hospital, where the Board of Children's Guardians obtained it.

An effort was made to settle the question by the records of Dr. Albert E. Pearl, a physician, who said he had testified previously that he last saw the baby Dec. 26 and his record had shown the birth was Dec. 26, instead of Dec. 19. His record, produced yesterday, gave dates of his visits as Dec. 14, 15, 23, 24, and 28. He admitted the dates were recorded some time later, and declared that on Dec. 28 Mrs. Lockwood told him the child had been removed.

Poepping's testimony might serve to prove the date, but he failed to respond when subpoenaed as a witness and, apparently, no effort has been made to bring him in.

The more testimony adduced about clothing the Lockwood baby wore when taken by its father, and about the foundling's clothes, the more confused this phase of the case becomes. First it seemed that clothing might serve as circumstantial evidence of identity, but yesterday the Judge indicated he attached no value to this evidence, but wanted the date question solved.

Sister Helen of St. Ann's and Miss Bonnie Cox, a nurse there, testified that some of the foundling's clothing was changed at that institution, so that articles it wore when taken to city hospital differed from articles it wore when at St. Joseph's.

Miss Lockwood, who is 18 years old, on the first day of this habeas corpus proceeding, fondled and examined the child she claims, but was unable to identify it by sight as her own. But she feels sure it is.

Two women employees of the telephone company, by which Miss Lockwood was employed as an operator, told of conflicting descriptions of Poepping given by the Lockwoods. One was told that Poepping was handsome and had a light complexion and blue eyes. The other was told that the father was "fine looking" and had dark hair and eyes.

The childless couple in whose care the Board of Children's Guardians placed the foundling, let it be believed by their friends that the baby was their own. But they had to give it up temporarily

PLEADS NOT GUILTY OF MURDER OF SCHOOL TEACHER

Maine Youth Reported as Confessing Crime Is Held Without Bail.

By the Associated Press.
ELLSWORTH, Me., May 28.—Roland McDonald, 15-year-old American school boy, was arraigned here yesterday on a charge of murdering Miss Louise B. Gerrish, his school teacher, last Wednesday night. He pleaded not guilty, and, waiving examination, was held without bail for the October grand jury. He was remanded to the county jail, where his brother, Victor, two years younger, is held as a material witness. The older brother was reported as having confessed to the murder.

JAPAN CABLES HER "SOLEMN PROTEST" ON EXCLUSION

best to avoid any petty, any small retaliation, embargoes or discrimination against Americans. The Government has the support of all responsible elements in business and civil life. I believe that thus far we have succeeded in maintaining a dignified national attitude.

Bitter Press Comment.
A bitter editorial outburst marks the final enactment of the American immigration bill including the exclusion of Japanese. A majority of the newspapers express disapproval with the action of President Coolidge and call his statement following his signing of the bill unconvincing and unsatisfactory.

"The statement," says the Nichiichi, "may satisfy America but never the Japanese. If the President had been of the same caliber as Lincoln, he would have braved opposition and vetoed the most unreasonable legislation Congress ever passed. The President, however, has Japanese sympathies, since he did his best under the circumstances to oppose the anti-Japanese agitators."

"The point at issue is not the admission of Japanese immigrants, but whether Japan is accorded the same treatment as other nations. The American action makes the Japanese doubt the existence of international good faith and the grave consequences which Ambassador Hamahara predicted will undoubtedly follow."

Blow to Friendship.
The Chugai Shogyo Shimpo says: "President Coolidge's statement is a more diplomatic courtesy in an effort to explain exclusion to this country. We must declare to America that Japan cannot and will not accept such injustice. Our Government must take decisive measures."

The Asahi said: "It is too bad that Japan had to be struck by a storm thrown by a wayward child. The child is probably not aware of the consequences, but that does not alter the fact that these may be of the gravest. A protest is now as useless as pouring water on a duck's back."

"The nation must encourage the Government to take more practical steps. The signing of the bill by President Coolidge was a fatal blow to Japanese-American friendship. The President is a thorough politician. His chief motive in signing the bill was fear of alienating support for his presidential campaign. Coolidge is to blame for lack of moral courage."

The Jiji Shimpo is disappointed in the President "who failed to carry out a policy that he knew was just and fair." The Jiji Shimpo goes on to say "a heavy heart the grave consequences" that are likely to follow unless prudence and restraint is exercised on both sides. The paper says that this action of Congress does not represent the will of the American nation and urges continued appeals to the American conscience.

YOKOHAMA, May 28.—Enactment of the Japanese exclusion provision of the immigration bill is causing a renewed slump in the Yokohama raw silk market, owing to the anticipation of falling off in American purchases and restriction of bank credit to silk men.

KEHOE, ACCUSED AS HEAD OF AUTO THEFT RING, FREED

Jury Deliberates 15 Minutes in Case of Ex-Convict, After Trial Lasting
Two Days.

Thomas Kehoe, 24 years old, an ex-convict, accused as leader of an alleged automobile theft ring which stole 100 Ford automobiles in St. Louis last year, was acquitted by a jury yesterday in Circuit Judge Hamilton's court.

The jury had deliberated 15 minutes after a trial lasting two days, during which the State sought to prove that Kehoe had stolen the automobile of Dr. James M. Smith, of 2151 Thurman avenue, May 15, 1923.

Kehoe was charged specifically with the theft of Dr. Smith's car, and three similar indictments remained to be tried during the June term. Assistant Circuit Attorney Wilson stated that a second attempt will be made to bring about Kehoe's conviction.

Kehoe's defense, built almost entirely on the cross-examination of State's witnesses, was that Kehoe was merely an employee of the Used Car Exchange, 1523 Grand boulevard, which dealt in stolen cars, and through which Dr. Smith's car was transferred to George Routzong, a Tipson, Mo., dealer. Tipson is near Booneville, in the vicinity of which many stolen cars were recovered.

Apparently the jury discounted the testimony of Sam Mandell, the State's principal witness, who testified that he and Kehoe were partners in the theft of the car. Mandell testified that Kehoe obtained the machines and handled sales while he (Mandell) paid the bills and handled the bank accounts.

In the closing argument, Kehoe's counsel declared there was no evidence to show that his client stole the automobile and that the transaction was entirely between Routzong and Mandell, both of whom were indicted for the same crime. Kehoe did not indorse checks or handle money for the firm, as evidenced by the fact that a check for $150—Routzong's payment for his night's work in a passenger truck operated by O. E. Sims, 44, of 623 Broadway, East St. Louis. Because of heavy rain, the curtains of the truck were drawn, and Sims did not see the backing Mobil 6 Ohio switch engine as he reached the crossing the company's private road makes with the tracks 50 yards east of the plant.

The truck was carried 50 feet up the track before the engine was stopped by its pilot, R. J. Suprenawski.

Routzong's Testimony.
Routzong testified during the trial that he agreed with Mandell to buy cars which could be sold as new for $150 each. William Baker, a negro employee of Routzong, testified he came to St. Louis in May, 1923, and that he and Kehoe were partners in the theft of the car. Kehoe said he drove it to Tipson. The only defense witness was Kehoe, who took the stand for a brief denial of charges. Mandell, who surrendered to the circuit attorney last January after being sought for six months, is held under five indictments set for June term trial, and Routzong, who aided in the recovery of stolen cars, has no formal charges against him.

John Kehoe Arrested.
Kehoe's brother, John, also under indictment and awaiting trial, was arrested yesterday when detectives raided a garage at 716 North Vandeventer avenue looking for stolen cars. They found no stolen automobiles, but instead seized in an upstairs room 25 bottles of illicit liquor, labeled Gordon gin, apricot brandy and wine. Kehoe walked in while the raid was in progress and was arrested with four others—two proprietors and two employees of the garage. Kehoe said he dropped in looking for automobiles he could buy.

It is recalled that Wesley R. Smith, a salesman for the automobile business, was arrested at St. Louis County, July 16 last while en route to St. Louis to talk to authorities about the activities of gang. For this reason, the State has endeavored to maintain secrecy and provide protection for its witnesses while the auto theft cases are pending.

EARLY MORNING FIRE CAUSES $15,000 DAMAGE TO 4 FIRMS

Blaze Discovered by Night Watchman Started in Building of General Lighting and Supply Co.

Fire of undetermined origin, discovered at 3 a. m. today by a night watchman, caused estimated damage of $15,000 to the building of the General Lighting and Supply Co., 515-21 North Sixth street, and stocks of four firms occupying the building.

The damage to the building was caused by a fire in the stock room of the firm as follows: General Lighting and Supply Co., 821 North Sixth, Max Orblatt dry goods store, 819 North Sixth, 1200; People's Store Co., 817 North Sixth, $300, and the Julius Glaser music store, 515 North Sixth, $100.

The watchman, Martin Ryan, was making his rounds near the building when attracted by the odor of smoke. He has turned in several fire alarms in the same district in recent years.

MAN CRUSHED TO DEATH BY AUTO DRIVEN BY WOMAN

Blacksmith Killed When Caught Between Trolley Pole and Machine on South Kingshighway.

Louis Siegmund, 40 years old, a blacksmith, of 5166 Dresden avenue, was killed at 7 p. m. yesterday, when crushed between an iron trolley pole and an automobile driven by Mrs. Mabel Newell, 31, of 5019 Murdoch avenue.

The accident occurred as Siegmund was crossing the street at west in front of 3221 South Kingshighway.

Mrs. Newell, who told police she was driving south about 15 or 20 o'clock, said she first saw Siegmund as he was crossing the street car tracks. He continued his course, as she sought to avoid him by swerving toward the sidewalk, and then crashed into the pole.

Mrs. Newell was released on bond, pending the inquest. The fatality was the fifty-first resulting from a motor vehicle accident this year. Fifty persons were killed in the corresponding period of 1923.

Man Killed When Hit by Engine Pilot by Kin.

Thrown from the truck in which he was riding when the machine was struck by a switch engine piloted by his cousin, Edward Younghouse, 35 years old, of 618 North Seventy-fourth street, East St. Louis, was decapitated at 10:55 o'clock last night by the wheels of his relative's engine.

Younghouse, with three other employees of the Union Electric Co.'s Cahokia plant at East St. Louis, was being driven to the plant for his night's work in a passenger truck operated by O. E. Sims, 44, of 623 Broadway, East St. Louis. Because of heavy rain, the curtains of the truck were drawn, and Sims did not see the backing Mobil 6 Ohio switch engine as he reached the crossing the company's private road makes with the tracks 50 yards east of the plant.

WORKS WAY AS DECKHAND TO REACH HERE TO CLAIM ESTATE

Doddridge Short Arrives From Buenos Aires After Trip as Seaman to Collect Inheritance.

Doddridge Short, the former St. Louisian who scrubbed decks and did other tasks on the steamship American Legion to work his passage up from Buenos Aires while his wife rode first class, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Scott Short of 4749 Cupples place. Short came up as one of the crew because he lacked funds for two passenger fares, he said on his arrival in New York Monday.

The trip was made, he said, because he was under the impression he had to appear personally to collect an inheritance from the death of his father, a lumber salesman, who died April 15, 1918. Short was aiding his sister, Miss Lorain Short, the administratrix, in settling the estate, said today, however, that Short's presence was not necessary and that they had recently called him to that effect.

The elder Short died without a will, and under the Missouri law, the two children will share equally in the estate, estimated at about $6000 or $7000. Short, an employee of the Standard Oil Co., has been stationed in South America for about seven years.

BISHOP WALDORF ASSIGNED TO AREA INCLUDING ST. LOUIS

Bishop Ernest Lynn Waldorf of Wichita, Kan., has been assigned by the Methodist Episcopal General Conference, now in session in Springfield, Mass., to the Kansas City area, which includes St. Louis. Bishop William A. Quayle, recently retired, had his headquarters in St. Louis, but Bishop Waldorf, under a rearrangement of territory made at the conference, will have his headquarters in Kansas City.

Bishop Waldorf will preach Sunday night in Union Methodist Church, on Delmar boulevard, near Grand. He is 48 years old, was ordained to the ministry in 1900, and was elected a Bishop at the 1920 conference. He has had charge of Kansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas. He will hereafter have charge of Missouri and Kansas.

Younghouse's cousin, Suprenawski, was recently transferred from the Tamm's (Ill.) division.

The other occupants of the truck were all injured. Sims was hurt about the back and side, Frank Sargent, 52, of 642 North Seventh street, suffered several rib fractures and internal injuries, and Oscar Glenn, 38, of 212 South Sixth street, suffered a fractured leg. East Broadway, were cut and bruised.

CITY GASOLINE TAX TO BE USED ON STREETS

Aldermen and Committee
Agree on Spending $200,- 000 for Improvements.

At a conference of the street committee of the Board of Aldermen, today, with the unofficial gasoline tax committee, a program for expenditure of the $200,000 to be derived by the city in the present fiscal year from the tax of 1 cent a gallon on gasoline, was agreed upon.

The gasoline tax committee consists of representatives of the truck owners, automobile dealers and Automobile Club, thus representing those who pay the tax. For three years past the Director of Streets has expended the money as recommended by this unofficial committee, without referring the matter to the aldermen. This year the street committee of the board asked for a hand in the matter, partly because of complaints that South Broadway had been neglected in the improvement program.

South Broadway was not included in the program as finally determined, the reason given being that it is too late for such work on that street this year. There was discussion at today's hearing of the item of $10,250 for improving Eleventh street, from Market street to Lucas avenue, but the item was approved, on the ground that it was for the benefit of traffic more than of the property owners on the street.

The program agreed upon is: For road oil, $25,000; for employing special inspectors to watch overloaded trucks, $2000; to be used at discretion of Director of Streets, $16,000; for Delmar boulevard, Taylor avenue to Kingshighway, $11,526; Twelfth, viaduct and Chouteau to Spruce, and from Market to Washington, $43,213.50; Third, Biddle to O'Fallon, $28,926; Eleventh, Market to Lucas, $10,250; Grand, Market to Miami and Dodder to Natural Bridge, $39,853.40; Kingshighway, Forest Park boulevard to Mandell, $2523; Eighth, Market to Washington, $2557; and Nebraska, Meramec to Dakota, $10,483.

The special inspectors are to enforce a provision of 17th new traffic ordinance, which restricts the loading of trucks on the basis of the wheelbase and type of truck.

RECEIVERSHIP ASKED FOR FILM CONCERN

Stockholder in General Manufacturing Co. Declares Officials Are Negligent.

A receivership suit against the General Film Manufacturing Co., which has a studio in University City, was filed at Clayton today by Irvin A. Eckman, who states he owns $2000 shares of stock, for which he paid $5200.

Eckman complains the officers and directors of the company have been negligent and extravagant in the management of the business, and that a bankruptcy suit by creditors is impending unless a "capable business man" is placed in charge to restructure and the present officers enjoined from interfering with him.

Has Valuable Assets.

The company has a valuable business and assets consisting of scenarios, stories, commercial and feature films and picture-taking equipment which, if sold on the market at forced sale, would net little, the petition states. On the other hand, the debts aggregate about $20,000 and creditors are pressing for payment, while the company holds $32,000 representing payment on stock subscriptions, which could be collected if a "business man was in charge."

As examples of extravagance, Eckman lists two complaints that "large sums of money were expended in furnishing and fitting offices at plant at 6800 Delmar boulevard, and that large sums of money were expended in commissions to brokers who sold stock."

President Has Been Sued.

Romaine Fielding, general manager of the company and until recently its president, has had other troubles beside the receivership suit. Recently two young men sued him for unpaid salary, asserting that they had been influenced by his seductive speeches to work as cameramen at $5 and $10 a week in the hope of a brilliant future, which never developed. Also, the State Finance Department recently revoked the company's license to sell stock because it had "degenerated into a mere stock selling scheme" by which Fielding was selling his own shares.

This is the very month to wash blankets To keep them unshrunk - soft - fluffy - wash them this way

How to Wash Your Blankets

A rich, live suds throughout the washing of blankets. To obtain this, use 2 tablespoonfuls of Lux to every gallon of water used in the washing.

Dissolve Lux thoroughly in very hot water, whisking it in a thick lather. Add cold water until lukewarm. Put the blanket into the rich suds, soak it up and down and squeeze the suds through the entire blanket.

If the suds die down, too much water has been used in cooling the solution, and more dissolved Lux should be added.

Take care to press the suds through the very soiled spots, but be sure never to rub the blankets. Rinse in three or more, if necessary, lukewarm waters, of the same temperature as the suds.

Drying: It makes blankets fluffier to let them drip dry. If this is not convenient, run them through a loose wringer. Never twist them. To avoid stretching and dragging hang the blanket double, and if possible lengthwise—pin at frequent intervals.

Careless washing, using harsh soap, has been known to shrink a blanket eighteen inches—a full half-yard—in a single washing.

IT'S blanket washing time all over the country. Blankets need a thorough laundering before they're put away, to keep the moths out. Clean blankets are practically moth-proof.

Once it was a real undertaking to wash them—an undertaking that you dreaded because the results were so uncertain. You were careful, painstaking, but even so your blankets would shrink, get stiff and board-like.

Lux has changed all this. You can wash your blankets—big, handsome, all-wool ones, light weight wool and cotton, wool nap—in pure Lux lather without fear of their shrinking or matting. Ordinary soap or a harsh soap chip takes the life out of any blanket, shrinks it almost beyond recognition.

Lux keeps your blankets like new. Year after year you can wash them in these pure bland flakes, and keep them soft, cozy and fluffy. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

The North Star Woolen Mill Co. says: "The tests and experiments we have made have demonstrated that Lux is an ideal product for washing blankets."

The makers of Ascher's Knit Goods, Carter's Knit Underwear, the Fleisher Yarns, recommend Lux for the safe laundering of anything containing wool.

WOOL IS AS SENSITIVE THAN ANY OTHER FABRIC

Wool is more sensitive than any other fabric and requires more careful laundering. The wool fiber is an animal fiber—made up of tiny horny scales which overlap very much like the scales of a fish.

Rubbing cake soap on a woolen garment or rubbing the garment makes these scale-like fibers interlock, or draw up and shrink. A soap or soap flake at all harsh will also shrink wool as well as coarsen and yellow it.

Important uses for Lux

In addition to the well-known uses recommended by great fabric manufacturers—silk, woolsens—fine cottons and linens—try Lux for:

5 Special Points on Blanket Washing

Extremes of heat and cold shrink wool so that it is as important to maintain an even temperature in drying blankets as in washing them. In warm weather dry blankets out of doors in the shade where they will not blow in the wind. In cold or windy weather dry indoors. Do not brush.

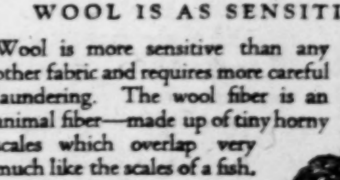

Rubbing: Blankets are given a nap to make them soft and fluffy and to give them warmth. They should, therefore, never be rubbed as this removes some of the nap—felts and shrinks them.

Ribbon bindings will not pucker if stretched out several times while the blanket is drying, and pressed lightly with a warm iron after the blanket is dry.

Knitted blankets: For washing follow directions for blankets. Never hang knitted things but spread them on bath towel to dry, pull into shape—according to measurements—before before article was washed.

Blankets only partly wool should be washed as if they were all wool.

ARMY TEAM SAILS TODAY FOR BENNETT BALLOON RACE

Maj. Peck Will Pilot Craft Weighing 425 Pounds in Brussels Contest.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 28.—The Army Air Service team, one of the three entries representing the United States in the Gordon Bennett international balloon race at Brussels June 15, will sail today from New York on the steamship President Harding.

Members of the team as announced by the War Department are Maj. Normal W. Peck, pilot; First Lieutenant William A. Gray, aide; and First Lieutenant M. E. Meyer, alternate and operations officer. They represented the army in the national elimination balloon race at San Antonio this month, and landed at St. Angar, La., after covering a greater distance than any army balloon ever before entered in such an event.

In the Gordon Bennett race, Maj. Peck will use a balloon weighing approximately 425 pounds, less than the one used by him in the national race, and, because of the decrease in weight, he is hopeful of remaining in the air for a distance greater than that covered in the San Antonio event. The balloon embodies all the latest features, and was constructed for racing purposes. Every precaution has been taken to provide for the comfort and safety of the crew, and even pontoons have been attached.

BLISS WILL CASE SETTLED

Brother and Nephew of Millionaire Steel Man Agree.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 28.—A brother and nephew of the late Col. Samuel Bliss, steel millionaire, yesterday settled out of court the suit they brought to break his will in which Bliss left his $2,500,000 fortune to his second wife, Mrs. Helen Bliss, formerly his secretary. The terms of settlement were not revealed beyond the statement that it was "large" and "satisfactory to everyone."

For several weeks witnesses for Mrs. Bliss have been testifying that the deceased was an excellent business man and not a mentally feeble old man easily influenced by his secretary, as alleged by the complainants, who declared that Bliss secretly had endeavored to have his employer by installing a kitchenette in their office and "heresay" entering to his economical habits.

Edmond A. Bliss, brother of the deceased, and Ernest W. Bliss, nephew, were the complainants.

KILLS ATTORNEY IN HOTEL

Former Sheriff at Fort Worth, Tex., Released on $10,000 Bond.

By the Associated Press.
FORT WORTH, Tex., May 28.—John T. Honea, 60 years old, former Sheriff, was at liberty today on $10,000 bond in connection with the slaying in a hotel lobby last night of John W. Estes, 25, attorney of Fort Worth and Los Angeles.

Honea shot Estes to death after the two men had exchanged a few words, witnesses said. The slayer refused to make a statement. He faces a murder charge.

Schall Makes a Correction

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 28.—Representative Schall (Rep.) of Minnesota announced in the House yesterday that he had erred in charging recently that Julius H. Barnes, former president of the United States Grain Corporation, had given a $20,000-a-year position to his son, a statement Barnes denied. The position Schall said he was now informed, had been given to a "Frank L. Carey," who he said was a brother-in-law of Barnes.

Schall asserted Carey started out as a dollar-a-year man and later received $20,000 a year. Several of Barnes' "business associates," Schall added, were promoted from a dollar-a-year job to $20,000 positions.

WAR DEPARTMENT TO SPEED
BONUS APPLICATION WORK

Adjusted Compensation Branch of Adjutant-General's Office Formed to Aid Veterans.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 28.—The War Department announces formation of the adjusted compensation branch of the Adjutant-General's office as a separate unit to handle the work made necessary by enactment of the bonus law.

The Adjutant-General, Major-General Robert C. Davis, will be in direct personal charge of the new branch, combining that work with his own functions as Adjutant-General. A separate office has been set up where Gen. Davis will give his attention to see there is no preventable delay in receiving and checking against records of the World War veterans' applications for bonus benefits.

To make way for the new organization, the old World War division of the Adjutant-General's office have been discontinued and the three officers and 215 clerks of that division, who have been handling about 2000 communications daily in connection with the records, have been transferred to the new branch. Later seven additional officers and 2517 clerks will be added to the rolls of the branch when the examination of records in connection with the bonus gets into full swing.

To make room for the additional personnel, 6000 filing cases of the 10,000 that formerly contained the personnel, organization, medical and miscellaneous records of the old World War division, will be moved to another building.

U. S. AFTER FILM "PIRATES"

State Department Instructs Agents at Request of Will Hays.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 28.—Instructions to make all proper endeavor to prevent the showing of pirated motion picture film was sent yesterday by the State Department to its representatives abroad, acting upon the request of Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America.

Hays represented to the department that pirating of films had become a common practice, those engaged in the traffic smuggling the films from the United States into foreign countries where they are not protected under American copyright laws. State Department agents also were directed to cooperate with representatives of American motion picture producing companies abroad, who in turn have been ordered by Hays to prosecute such violations to the full extent of the law prevailing in the nations where they reside.

Soldiers Missing at Volcano.

By the Associated Press.
OSWEGO, N. Y., May 28.—Parents of Private Edward J. Hinnman, who was attached to a military unit in the Hawaiian Islands, and who with a companion has been missing since Sunday, May 18, two days after they started on a hike to view an eruption of Mount Kilauea, yesterday received an official dispatch from the War Department stating that their son and his friend, Private Orrin Simmons of Beloit, Wis., still are missing. The hikers are believed to have been killed when they ventured too near the volcano during a shower of rocks and molten lava.

APPARENT EFFORT TO BURN GOUNIS' RESORT

Fire Put Out With Small Loss but Roadhouse Owner Tells of Finding Kerosene.

What appeared to be an incoordinate effort to burn the Meramec Highlands roadhouse of Peter Gounis, whom the recent grand jury declared to be "one of four notorious law violators in St. Louis County," was made at 11 o'clock last night.

Gounis today expressed belief that the fire was attempted retaliation by enemies who believe he is responsible for information which is causing Circuit Judge Wurdeman to consider calling a special grand jury. The Judge said last week that he had received four affidavits concerning alleged liquor and slot machine "protection" offered Gounis. It was reported afterwards that Gounis and 15 other saloon keepers had made affidavits about alleged "protection" offers.

The fire, which was discovered by a trolley motorman was confined to a refreshment stand and fence, but Gounis estimate damage at $500. He put the blaze out with chemical extinguishers.
He declared that he found three tin cans and a jug, holding a total of 20 gallons of kerosene, close to the fire, and found the ground near the dance hall soaked with kerosene. He offers a reward of $100 for information concerning any sale of such a quantity of kero-

wife and two small children, and several families of employees, were asleep on the grounds when the fire broke out. Gounis is under a six-months' jail sentence for contempt in selling liquor at his place in violation of an injunction, but is expected to escape serving through a technicality. The State is preparing to seek a new injunction against his place.

Gounis appeared at Clayton courthouse today to report the fire and was summoned to Judge Mc-Ellinney's court to receive formal sentence to pay a fine of $50 assessed against him by a jury last January, upon conviction of setting up a slot machine illegally. He was given a three-day stay of execution to raise the money. The grand jury which censured Gounis as a law violator also declared that he had wriggled out of payment of numerous fines.

COAL COMPANY CREDITORS MEET WITH RECEIVERS

Report of Auditor Shows
Members of Dimond Family Indebted to Southern Gem Corporation.

800 MINERS HIT BY FAILURE OF FIRM

Jesse Dimond Defends Self and Kin in Transactions and Says All Can Be Cleared Up.

The Dimond family—Jesse, Jesse Jr., Ray and Perry—figures prominently in an auditor's report on the financial condition of the Southern Gem Coal Corporation, a $2,000,000 concern which operated in five Southern Illinois counties prior to receivership last January.

Jesse Dimond is president of the corporation, with headquarters in Chicago, and his two brothers and son did business with the corporation in various ways. All but Jesse Dimond Jr. are indebted to the corporation, according to a report by Arthur C. Smith, certified public accountant, to receivers C. B. Thomas and W. S. Wilson.

The report was made public yesterday at an informal meeting of creditors in the East St. Louis offices of Thomas, who is referee in bankruptcy. Included among the 800 men present were representatives of 800 miners to whom the corporation owes $250,000. Failure to pay the miners has had the double effect of bringing destruction to hundreds and of keeping the mines shut, as union by-laws forbid the miners to return to work for the corporation until back wages are paid in full.

Jesse Dimond was also present and, after listening calmly to the reading of the report, arose and defended himself and family against any inferences which might have contained. "There is not one condition mentioned in the report that cannot be explained," he said. "The whole business can be cleaned up clearly, honorably and square, as between man and man. I have offered my services, but they were not accepted."

Dimond Turned Down.
Previously Referee Thomas had quoted Dimond as saying he would have to be paid for his services as he is "broke." A few creditors, friendly to Dimond, proposed yesterday that he be named as a third receiver for the corporation, but made no headway. Nor was Dimond on the creditors' committee of five selected to assist the referee in his duties. The committee members are Sam B. Jeffries of St. Louis, Bruce A. Campbell of East St. Louis, H. A. Cress of Mt. Vernon, Ill., Christian Custard of Piquetteville, Ill., and H. J. Curry of Chicago.

The auditor's report consisted of 95 pages, plus a 15-page supplement. It suggested certain items might warrant further inquiry and listed $421,184.89 "assets" of the corporation, representing "that amount of claims against the Dimonds and other interested parties. While stating the Dimonds have certainly as to the exact amounts owing to the coal corporation by the various associated parties," the report calls attention to the following items which appear on the firm's books as of Jan. 25, 1924:

Jesse Dimond Sr., $39,059.60; Jesse Dimond & Co., $34,744.45; Dimond, Horne and Mule Co., $46.44; Illinois Livestock Co., $62,753.94; Perry S. Dimond, $14,049.28; Horne Dimond Coal Co., $41,129.39; Ray A. Dimond, $36,502.28; $72,777.33; $34,666 and $72,010.67; Dillavau & Rea, Inc., $113,644.35 and $28,647.37; Harris & Dillavau Co., $24,657.60; Bitumacite Coal Co., $21,167.00; William Wallace Ketchum, $27,931.50; and Ira D. Kay, $25,010.50, all totaling $421,184.89.

Thomas Horn is vice president of the corporation; H. H. Rea vice president and secretary, and John M. Dillavau vice president and treasurer, and all three, as well as President Jesse Dimond and Ray Dimond, are directors.

YOUTH KILLS SELF WITH REVOLVER HE SAID WAS EMPTY

William Kirsch Places Weapon to Temple in Pursuit of Three Companions.

William Kirsch, 17 years old, of 1410 Missouri avenue, East St. Louis, was showing a revolver to three companions in front of a saloon at Seventeenth street and Gaty avenue at 9:30 o'clock last night.

"Look," he said, "the chamber under the firing pin is empty. I'm going to commit suicide."

He placed the revolver at his right temple and pulled the trigger. There was a loud report and Kirsch fell dead.

When his friends examined the revolver they found that the chamber Kirsch had pointed to was indeed empty, but that in pulling the trigger he had turned the cylinder to a chamber that had contained a loaded cartridge.

Kirsch had taken the revolver, which belonged to his brother-in-law, from a bureau drawer in his home.

EPISCOPAL COURT DENIES ALL DEFENSE MOTIONS IN TRIAL OF BISHOP BROWN

Plea of Not Guilty Entered to Charge of Uttering Doctrines Contrary to Creed; Defendant Has Slight Heart Attack.

The defense then pressed its own statement challenging the fairness of the court and asserting it had evidence that at least one member was opinionated against Bishop Brown.

"This court was established," ruled Bishop Murray, "by canons of the church for the trial of just such cases as this. It denies the right of anyone to interrogate it as to its integrity or the integrity of any of its members. The motion is overruled by unanimous opinion."

Session of Argument.
Arguments consumed the entire time yesterday of the first session of the court.

The right of a bishop or group of bishops to question doctrine advanced by another bishop was disputed and the further point was made that Bishop Brown gave up his canonical residence when he retired from active work 12 years ago and therefore cannot legally be summoned before any church court.

The hall of Trinity Cathedral was crowded to its 400 capacity yesterday when the court entered clad in episcopal robes of office. Leaders of the church and their parishioners, clergymen of other denominations and sympathizers with the admittedly radical ideas of the defendant were there. All stood as the line of bishops filed down the center aisle and took places in a semicircle, whose background was a red curtain concealing an altar.

Bishop Murray and hundreds, including Bishop Brown, received the Apostles' creed, historic expression of the church's faith, a brief collect, asking for divine guidance, followed, and then Bishop Murray declared the court formally opened.

Bishop Murray interrupted, however, and ruled that it was time to read the presentment. This was done by the clerk of the court, the Rev. Charles C. Bubbe of Fremont, O. It contained the excerpts from Bishop Brown's book on which the charges are based.

Sharts expected to reading of the presentment ahead of a hearing on his challenge as to the fairness of the court. He also took up the previously filed motion for a bill of particulars.

Sharts went into an analysis of the wording of the presentment pointing out words and phrases which the defense found vague. Sharts read the table of contents of the book of common prayer, the Apostles' and Nicene creeds and asked that the presentment be read on which particular points the alleged offense was based. He argued there were more than 1000 possibilities in the prayer book, 25 in the Apostles' creed and 29 in the Nicene creed.

Defense Is Outlined.
"We expect to compel the prosecution to verify by Scripture each point which they claim has been 'overruled,'" he said. "We expect to show that the interpretation of the Scripture had been discarded by this church, that the leaders of its thought have themselves shown this in public speech and writings. Each official of the church speaks for it even as political leaders speak for their party."

Sharts said the proceedings were based upon the desire of one faction of the church to expel from it all who disagreed with them on matters of doctrine and politics.

"Bishop Brown, however," said the attorney, "has been loyal to the doctrine, and has merely gone farther than the rest of you along a path you are all traveling.

"That will be our defense but how can such a defense be framed if we know not on what points of doctrine we are supposed to have offended?"

"The Last Heresy Trial," the defense announced in a formal statement that it would utilize every possible technicality in its fight for acquittal. "While this trial actually is a battle over theological beliefs," said the statement, "we are making every attempt by creating precedent, to make impossible the trial of churchmen for symbolic interpretation of supernatural passages in the Bible. Our aim is to make this the last heresy trial in church history."

Following this Sharts appealed to the court to follow the safeguards given to a defendant by the common law. He referred to medieval executions for heresy, mentioned the "wrapping flames" of Smithfield, which crept up quivering heretics to the accompaniment of chants by priests of this church, and added:

"My most tender memories center around childhood and home within the folds of this church, but these do not blind me to the fact that this church in the remote past has been guilty of brutal murder."

NEW ASSIGNMENTS FOR M. E. BISHOPS

More Than Half the Residences to Have Change in Occupants.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 25.—Over half the Episcopal residences of the Methodist Episcopal Church have a change in bishops as a result of the Episcopal assignments, approved by the general conference. All of the five newly elected bishops were sent to foreign stations.

Many of the changes were due to an order by the general conference that the Episcopacy Committee should "have in mind" an eight-year limitation to the bishop's tenure of any one station. Bishops Luther E. Wilson, New York; Joseph P. Berry, Philadelphia; and William M. F. McDowell of Washington were left in their present residences.

Assignments of Bishops.
The new assignments follow: Boston, William F. Anderson, from Cincinnati.

Buffalo, Adna W. Leonard, from San Francisco.

Chattanooga, Wilbur P. Thirlick, from Mexico City.

Chicago, Edwin P. Hughes, from Boston.

Cincinnati, Theodore S. Henderson, from Detroit.

Cleveland, N.Y. (new station), Matthew W. Clair, from Liberia (station abolished).

Helena, Mont., P. Lester Smith, from Bangalore, India.

Omaha, Frederick T. Keeney, from Foochow, China.

Kansas City (new station), Ernest L. Walcott, from Wichita, Kan. (merged with St. Louis).

St. Paul, Charles E. Locke, from Manila.

San Francisco, Charles W. Burns, from Helena.

Foreign field, Foochow, Wallace E. Brown.

Pekin, George R. Grose.

Bangalore, Francis T. Warne, from Lucknow.

Bombay, Stephen T. Badley.

Delhi, John W. Robinson, from Bombay.

Singapore, Titus Lowe.

Mexico City, George A. Miller.

Church Doctrine Reaffirmed.
Reaffirmation of belief in the church's articles of religion was expressed in a report from the subcommittee on spiritual life adopted last night. The resolution read in part:

"Methodism rejoices in the pronouncement of John Wesley that as all opinions that do not strike at the root of Christianity we think and let think. On the foundation of our doctrinal structure is built:

"... We reaffirm our belief in the doctrines of Holy Scripture as set forth in the articles of religion of the Methodist Episcopal Church and emphasize in the Episcopal address:

"... and we call upon all who exercise the teaching office ... to recognize the obligation that is upon them to be absolutely loyal to these basic beliefs of our church."

The plan for union with the Methodist Episcopal Church South was forwarded when the conference accepted the recommendation of a special committee to lay the matter before the Northern annual conferences in 1925—provided the General Conference of the Southern church accepts the plan at its special meeting next July.

Limitation of the terms of district superintendents was voted, a minority report giving annual conferences the power to make exceptions being laid on the table. Under the new rule a superintendent may not remain more than six consecutive years in the same district.

The general conference refused today to decide whether it had power to place a time limit on the episcopacy. A majority report in the measure was tabled by 443 to 254, and a minority affirmative report was tabled, 459 to 295.

The failure of the conference to make a decision was criticized as "unbecoming its dignity" by Henry Wade Rogers, New York, judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and chairman of the Judiciary Committee. A subsequent motion to table the majority report from the table was defeated, however, 279 to 242.

Exclusion Act Assailed Before Baptists Convention.
By the Associated Press.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 25.—The annual Northern Baptist convention opened today with delegates to the Baptist Bible Union organized, through two days of pre-convention sessions, to hush the voice of modernism should it be raised in the convention. With drawal from the Federal council of the churches of Christ, adoption of a Baptist confession of faith, correction of the reading course for young ministers, and disfranchisement of salaried servants of the convention were among the principal questions before today's sessions.

C. S. Shanks, of Seattle, president of the convention, is head of a group which is expected to seek adoption of a resolution deploring the action of Congress in excluding Japanese immigration.

When America turns its back upon its ancient friend, Japan, and forces the race question to the fore, it becomes responsible before God and the world for setting in motion influences, the extent of which no man can measure, declared Shanks, in opening the session today.

"Japan does not question the right of America to close its doors

OCTOGENARIAN SLAYS FRIEND

Michigan Man Fights Police After Victim's Body Is Found.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., May 25.—Frank Vanderbosch, 80 years old, yesterday shot to death his brother-in-law Frank Decester, 59, during an attack of insanity, police assert. The men had been friends for almost three-quarters of a century and recently had lived in the same house.

Decester became ill some time ago and since that time Vanderbosch had brooded greatly over his friend's illness, officers assert. Neighbors were attracted to the house when they saw furniture being hurled from the windows. They found Decester's body, with the head crushed, in the back yard. Vanderbosch, still powerful physically, fought, officers who attempted to take him into custody and once escaped from them.

to all immigrants but it does ask by what reasoning America with its pretensions of Christian idealism and friendship, with its vast material resources, and a population of one hundred millions of people can justify its apparent position that her civilization is in jeopardy by the small number of Japanese immigrants that would be allowed on a quota basis," said Shanks.

Says Opponents Inject It in Desperate Hope of Injuring Candidate.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 28. — David Ladd Rockwell, manager of the McAdoo campaign for the presidency, last night issued a statement replying to criticism of William Gibbs McAdoo's candidacy in Massachusetts recently, which Rockwell attributed to "anti-McAdoo forces who are seeking to disguise their real purpose behind the mask of racial and religious prejudice."

Rockwell's statement follows: "The statements in Massachusetts concerning Mr. McAdoo and the Ku Klux Klan are absolutely false. Mr. McAdoo has always stood, and stands now, for that broad standard of Americanism that recognizes no distinctions in race or creed, and that all citizenship in this country rests, in the spirit of the Constitution, on the same foundation. He deplores the attempts to inject religious issues into public affairs, a thing to be condemned by all right-thinking and patriotic citizens. The coalition against Mr. McAdoo having failed to stop his progress, has now entered into a conspiracy to inject this false issue into the campaign with the desperate hope of injuring the man whom the Democrats and progressive voters of the United States are determined to nominate and to elect to the presidency."

A dose at bedtime of
SYRUP PEPSIN
Made them feel jolly again

Good Health and Happy Old Age

THE chief concern of elderly people is their health, and that is best assured by regular daily bowel movement. There is no truth, however, in the notion that because you are old you need a "strong physic." In fact, just because you are old a mild laxative is better for you. The trouble with purges and cathartics and physics is that they shock the system and weaken it and make the muscles of digestion flabby. Dr. G. H. Brown, V. S. of Frederic, Wis., nearly wrecked his stomach with purgatives. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin restored his health, as it did Mrs. J. S. Etheridge's, of Milledgeville, Ga.

Does Not Gripe

You can be sure of satisfactory evacuations every day if you will take Syrup Pepsin at night when you retire. You will not need to take it very long as a few doses will soon encourage the bowels to act for themselves. The popularity of this wonderful family remedy has become so great that it is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. Because of its mildness and freedom from griping it is especially ideal for the extremes of ages, for children and for elderly people.

Effective at Small Cost

Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store. The formula is on the package, and the cost less than a cent a dose. Take it when you feel heavy, sleep poorly, have headache or night cramps, for these are also symptoms of constipation. Give it to the children, when they are restless, feverish or have a cold. Syrup Pepsin will keep you and the family free from constipation, a condition that lowers the vitality 25 per cent and raises the blood pressure 28 per cent. Freedom from constipation lessens the pain of kidney trouble, neuritis and rheumatism.

You Don't have to take care of the Sunbeam Its Steel Case does that for you

WHEN you have a 100% efficient and beautiful iron like the Sunbeam, you hate to see it tarnish. But that is just what happens when the iron is "left around."

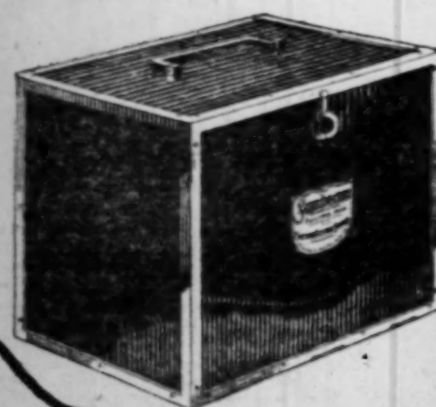

What a fine iron really needs is a permanent steel case—to keep it dry, and clean, and bright.

The Sunbeam is the only iron that has such a case. It is not "just an electric iron." It comes to you in a set—iron, cord and stand compactly stowed away all in one single place.

The case not only protects the iron. It keeps everything together—ready for instant use. Then, after using, set your iron back into its heat-proof box without waiting for it to cool.

The Sunbeam Set is an ironing outfit you'll be proud to own—an extra fine iron in an extra handsome case finished in Delft Blue enamel, reinforced with gleaming bands of nickel-plated steel. See it at your dealer's. For your own use you'll never be satisfied with ordinary ironing things when you can get the Sunbeam Set for $8.50 complete.

FORMER ELEVATOR

Wanted Him to Have
$17,000,000 Property.MAKES CHARGES AGAINST LEGATEEDeclares Secretary of Edward F. Searles Influenced Millionaire to Disinherit Complainant.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 28.—In a voluminous complaint filed in the County Clerk's office, Angelo Milton Ellison, Greek, former elevator operator, makes formal demand for $17,000,000 of the estate, left by his aged benefactor, Edward F. Searles, millionaire recluse of Methuen, Mass. He also makes charges against Arthur T. Walker, Searles' former secretary and residuary legatee, and Lewis L. Delafield, well-known lawyer.

The filing of the complaint yesterday by Herman Aaron of Parker & Aaron, attorneys for Ellison, follows the service of a summons upon Walker and Delafield 30 days ago. While Aaron stated at the time that Ellison was bringing suit to recover from Walker and Delafield the bulk of the Searles estate, on the ground that Searles intended to leave him the entire estate and was prevented by illegal means from doing so, the nature of Ellison's accusations against Walker and Delafield were not disclosed.

Edward F. Searles, who acquired his fortune by marrying the widow of Mark Hopkins, railroad pioneer, died Aug. 6, 1920, at his home, Pine Lodge, in Methuen, Mass. His will, executed July 24, 1920, made his secretary, Arthur T. Walker, his residuary legatee. Albert Victor Searles, a nephew, who was left only $250,000, began a contest, but settled before trial for $4,500,000.

Treated as Adopted Son.

Ellison, whom the elder Searles had met five or six years previously on one of his visits to the Hotel Biltmore, where Ellison was an elevator operator, was left only $10,000, despite the fact that he was taken from place to place by Searles and treated practically as an adopted son.

In his complaint, Ellison, who is now about 25, says that for several years prior to his death Edward F. Searles was the "fosterfather" of the plaintiff, sustaining towards the plaintiff to the fullest measure the relations ordinarily sustained by a parent toward his child. In June or July, 1920, when Searles was ill in his home in Methuen, Ellison says, Searles desired to execute a will leaving his property to Ellison.

For a month before the signing of the will, Ellison says, he tried to see his "fosterfather," but Walker, he states, falsely represented that Searles was in such a condition "that this shock of joy which Searles would experience on seeing Ellison would prove very harmful and dangerous, and there was danger it might prove fatal."

Relying upon Walker's representations Ellison says he remained away. During this period he also charged, Walker intercepted and withheld from Searles letters which Ellison wrote and which he says Searles was expecting. He claims that Searles during this time was pining for, expecting and in need of plaintiff's presence, comfort and sympathy and was affected physically and mentally by the plaintiff's absence.

Says Millionaire Was Influenced.

Knowing that Searles was near death, Ellison charges, Walker made derogatory remarks to Searles concerning Ellison, reflecting upon his character and habits, with the result that Searles was gripped at what he thought was Ellison's ingratitude and turned against him, finally making Walker his chief legatee.

In order to further his ends, Ellison says, Walker prevented Searles from obtaining proper medical treatment and caused him to be subjected to dangerous treatment which impaired his health and his resistance to Walker's suggestions.

No More Body Odor

New Kind of Soap
Banishes Cause

At last there is a simple new way to banish generation odors—body and clothing—without dangerous chemicals! The newest and finest of toilet soaps has been combined with a medicinal extract which has the marvelous power of dissolving, removing and preventing all perspiration and body odors immediately.

A single washing prevents odors for at least 24 hours no matter how much one may exercise or dance. In fact, in 1897 two students, including Marathon Danvers and Tommie players, it was found that there was no body odor after hours of strenuous exertion. And it leaves no odor of its own. Clean remove the cause.

Does not irritate or stain clothing. And is so beneficial to skin that physicians recommend it to keep babies clean and sweet.

Put up in special-size boxes (2 in a box) under name "CUTICURA". Far cheaper than many so-called deodorants. Takes place of both deodorant and soap. We will refund your money if you don't decide that CUTICURA is the finest toilet soap you have ever used. Manufactured by Pioneer Products Co., Dayton, Ohio, Geo. Borghardt & Co., Inc., Chicago, Ill., 111-119 East 18th Street, New York, N. Y.

PRESIDENT NOW EXPECTED TO SIGN REVENUE BILL

Pressure Being Brought to Bear on Him by Republican Leaders to Approve Measure.

ATTITUDE OF BUSINESS INTERESTS UNCERTAIN

Large Concerns Fear Publicity Features Are Precursor to More Radical Provisions in Future.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 23.—Senators and administration leaders in Congress heard late today that Secretary Mellon, contrary to indications given by him when the tax bill passed the Senate, had recommended that President Coolidge affix his signature to it. Treasury officials declined to comment beyond saying the Secretary had not yet submitted his formal written opinion.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—President Coolidge, it became known today, is trying to find a way to sign the tax reduction bill, and it is believed he will do so.

It is announced at the White House that the President will rely upon his expert advisers to inform him of the effects of the bill as soon as he has this information. His decision will be announced. Approval is confidently expected. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon with his experts, is making a final analysis of the bill.

There is no doubt in the mind of the Secretary as to some of the features of the bill, notably the estate tax and the publicity section. He regards these provisions as pernicious, but so final decision has not been reached as to the effect of the rates and the amount of revenue that will be raised.

Despite the various estimates of revenue and of expenditures which have been made, resulting in a deficit of $1,000,000,000, which Chairman Smoot of the Senate Finance Committee and Chairman Green of the Ways and Means Committee of the House predicate the statement that taxes can be reduced, the annual charges of the bonus paid and a surplus of $2,000,000,000 will be left in the Treasury. Secretary Mellon is understood to be in doubt as to the accuracy of these figures.

Possible Surplus of $8,000,000,000. The original estimate, it is reported, which deficit was predicted, were made a year ago while the estimate by McCoy was made recently and represented his view alone.

It is claimed by the House leaders that the appropriations already made are approximately $4,000,000,000 under the budget estimated, which would increase the estimated surplus approximately to $8,000,000,000. The pressure upon the President from the political leaders of his party to sign the bill is described as tremendous. After a long delay, the President is being told, would result from the veto of a bill for which the President has already given in Congress have voted almost unanimously.

Business itself is uncertain as to its attitude. It had become recognized to the failure of the Mellon plan and had accepted the attitude of Senator Smoot that after all the bill might not be as bad.

Business Opposition Revived. Within the last 24 hours, however, there has been a marked revival of opposition to the bill from business sources, not so much for what the bill contains as for the policy which it inaugurates. The larger business concerns, while objecting to the modified publicity features, are not adamant in their opposition on the ground they will not be hurt particularly by having this information come into the hands of competitors, but foremost as an enlargement of the publicity provisions in any succeeding bill.

Close advisers of the President outside of congressional circles are disposed to be stampeded by the desire of the Senate and House leaders to have the President sign the bill. Favorable action by the President on the bill would bring out the Congressmen, they admit, but they can see no particular reason why the President should worry about them so long as they displayed no anxiety to carry out his policies.

Already repercussions throughout the country are beginning to be noted they point out, resulting from the failure of the party leaders in Congress to "stand by the President."

Favoring Pepper's World Court PlanChange in Statute of Tribunal Held Necessary to Sever It From League, but No Interference With Work Is Contemplated.By CHARLES MICHELSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.WASHINGTON, May 23.—The majority report of the Foreign Relations Committee, presenting to the Senate the Pepper plan for adhesion to the World Court as a substitute for the plan proposed by President Harding and Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes, announces that the Pepper project is "affirmative and favorable action upon the plan of President Harding and President Coolidge that we should adhere to the court but not to the League of Nations."The proposal, as it came from the White House, was that the United States should join the court and participate in the proceedings of the council and assembly of the League of Nations having to do with the filling of the vacancies but made the reservation that such participation should not involve the United States in any responsibility for other activities of the league.The majority report filed yesterday involves junking the present machinery for electing judges and forming a new council and assembly. Its opponents assert that the idea is to offer something that Senator Lodge is satisfied the other nations cannot accept.President Coolidge already had told the Republican members of the Foreign Relations Committee, when they tried to show him the beauties of the Pepper scheme, that he still was of the opinion "that the plan as originally suggested was best, that he had gone to the country and that delegates had been elected to nominate him with the knowledge that that was his policy and that good faith demanded that he stick by it."What Harding Said.
In his message to the Senate, President Harding said that with the Hughes reservations "we may fully adhere and participate and remain wholly free from any legal obligation to the league or assumption of obligation under the covenant of the league."The Foreign Relations Committee report, after enumerating the relationship between court and league, goes on to say:
"But to President Harding and to Secretary Hughes the relationship was a fatal obstacle to adherence,
because both were as firmly determined as is President Coolidge that the United States shall remain wholly free from any such relationship to the League of Nations."They quote the Hughes reservation mentioned by President Harding as safeguarding this country from the league as a reason for demanding amendment of the statute constituting the court.While President Harding stated that there was no intention to revise the league would accept the membership of the United States with the Hughes reservations the Foreign Relations Committee inreconcilably insists that the country must accept the statute precedent to our joining.The resolution by Senator Swinson (Dem., Va.) which gives the President authority to bind the United States to the court under the restrictions suggested by Mr.
Coolidge and endorsed by Mr. Harding, is dismissed in the report as not presenting a draft to which the Senate could consent.New Election Machinery.
Except for the insistence of a brand-new election agency, the Pepper substitute generally follows the text of the league statute, with the addition that it does not include the representation of Canada, Australia and the other self-governing British dependencies in the electing bodies and eliminates the court's function as a legal adviser to the League of Nations. The view is the League of Nations, which is really the minority report of the committee, also contains the disclaimer of advisory opinions.There is no intention to ratify the Pepper proposal. It is intended to meet the sentiment for putting into effect the Har-dington plan, which found expression during recent hearings. The committee would not have acted at all had not it been made known that Swanson proposed moving the discharge of the committee from plan and so forcing it to the floor of the Senate. All that will come of it during the present session of Congress will be a lot of debate.Text of Report.
The majority report of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations reads:"In compliance with the message from the President of the United States (President Harding) dated
Feb. 24, 1923, in which the Senate is asked to consider the proposal of the United States of the proposal of December 16, 1920, establishing a Permanent Court of International Justice and to which message of December 6, 1923 (byPresident Coolidge) in which the former message is commended to the favorable consideration of the Senate, the Committee on Foreign Relations reports that it has carefully considered this proposal and submits herewith a resolution with the recommendation that it do pass."In reporting this resolution the committee has taken affirmative and favorable action upon the recommendation of President Harding and President Coolidge that we should adhere to the court, but not to the League of Nations.""The resolution accepts the court as an established institution and confirms the tenure of the present judges. If the resolution is adopted, the President will be in a position, without further recourse to the Senate, promptly to conclude with the states now adhering to the court a simple, direct and reasonable agreement.""Under its terms, the United States, without reservations and without the least interference with the business of the court, will align itself with 48 other states in maintaining and perpetuating this important international tribunal."

Free From League.

"On the other hand, the United States will remain, in that event, wholly free from any legal relation to the League of Nations. No only will this be true as to the United States but the existing legal relation between the court and the league will be severed for all States, so that the United States will occupy no anomalous or peculiar position but will stand upon the same footing as all the rest.""In two important particulars the resolution goes beyond the proposal of President Harding and embodies two ideas which President Coolidge has emphasized."One of these is the American idea of a court to which not only league members, but all states may adhere—the idea, that is, of a true world court.""The other is the idea of a world law for a world court to interpret and apply. As without such a body of law made for it, we may call the tribunal a court of law, but it will necessarily become either a mere tribunal of arbitration or else an international law making body."The ideal of a world law can be attained under the resolution because it proposes to allow adherence to the court by any State recognized by any signatory power.The ideal of a world law can be realized under the resolution through the calling of a third international conference, similar to the Hague conference of 1893 and for the clarification and further development of international law and the codification thereof.Root Advised Conference.
It is not generally known that the committee of jurists of which Mr. Root was a member, on whose report the plan of the court was based, advised the council of the League of Nations not merely to set up the court but to call a conference to clarify and develop international law. The advice was not followed. The resolution proposes that it shall be followed now."It will be remembered that the history of the court is, briefly, as follows:"At the Hague conference the representative of the United States pressed a plan for a court of justice corresponding in a general way with the structure of the tribunal which now exists. An obstacle was found in attempting to devise a satisfactory plan for choosing the judges. The attempt was not abandoned, however, because everybody agreed that the establishment of a permanent world court of justice would make for international peace.""The reasons this is so and why we need a supplement to The Hague Court of Arbitration were admirably stated by Secretary Hughes in an address from which an extract is appended to this report.""When the covenant of the League of Nations was being drawn the project of a permanent court of justice was again taken up and an Article 14 was inserted in the covenant which reads as follows:
'The council shall formulate and submit to the members of the League for adoption plans for the establishment of a permanent court of international justice. The court shall be competent to hear and determine any dispute between the parties thereto submitted to it. The court may also give an advisory opinion upon any dispute or question referred to it by the council or by the assembly.'"

Drafting of Court Plan.

Thereafter the council of the league invoked the aid of the committee of jurists above referred to. The plan of the present court was drawn up by this committee.
It was submitted to the council, wasAUTHOR OF PROPOSED

Voice in Election of Judges.were as firmly determined, as is President Coolidge, that the United States shall remain wholly free from any such relationship to the League of Nations."Accordingly, when President Harding communicated his message of Feb. 24, 1923, not was at pains to make this clear. With his message he transmitted a letter from the Secretary of State in which the latter specified two of the conditions of adherence in the following language: 'That such adhesion shall not be taken to involve any legal relation on the part of the United States to the League of Nations or the assumption of any obligations by the United States under the covenant of the League of Nations constituting Part I of the Treaty of Versailles. That the United States shall be permitted to participate through representatives designated for the selection of judges on an equality with the other states members, respectively, of the Council and Assembly of the League of Nations in any and all proceedings of either the Council or the Assembly for the election of Judges or Deputy Judges of the permanent Court of International Justice, or for the filling of vacancies.'"The pending resolution has been drawn in an effort to satisfy these essential conditions."It has often been suggested by the advocates of precipitate adherence that these conditions can be met by making reservations when the United States signs the protocol. A reservation merely gives notice of the terms upon which a state understands itself to be signing. If there is no objection upon the part of other signatories, the reservation becomes effective.""But in the present case it is not a question of terms of signature. It is a question of the inevitable consequence of signature upon any terms. The assembly and council of the league alone are entitled under the statute to vote for judges. As long as the United States is a member of the league, it is bound to vote for judges. If it cannot be counted, therefore, if we are to adhere to the court the statute must be amended at least in this respect."Calls Reservation Futile.
"No reservation can possibly accomplish the result. When reservations are spoken of in this connection, they are used in a technical sense, rather than in the sense in which the Secretary of State does not describe the necessary safeguards as reservations but as conditions and understandings. They are just

WHEN I arrive in this country
I am met by the Baltimore Evening Sun's prize edition of the difference between the Republican party and the Democratic party.That "bad for business" phrase in the Baltimore Sun definition hit pretty close to what is in the voters' consciousness. President Coolidge, with his Mellon tax plan, snuggled up pretty close to business. If a lot of people think that his profiteering attitude was a large profit or more wages in their pockets, they won't stop voting for Coolidge because one Republican.
Fall took a bribe, or another Republican, Daugherty, had a lot of friends who probably ought to have been in jail, any more than people who want to lay up treasures in heaven quit the church because one or two ministers run away with pretty good money. And if the Western farmers vote against Mr.
Coolidge, it will not be on account of Fall, but because they think a close associate of the industrial East will not be good for their business of farming.I don't know why anyone should insist on there being a difference between the Republican and Democratic parties. It is probably more fun having two parties that are alike. But perhaps there is going to be a difference between them. Hitherto we have been governed by two center parties, each trying to be a little more center than the other. It's a bad time for center parties. The German center is pretty well gone.
Folks are moved to the center and got licked. The English center, the Liberal party, hardly knows whether it is alive. Mr. Coolidge has moved right and now the Democratic party doesn't know where to move. Mr. La Follette having occupied the left. In that disconcerting situation it is likely to be forgotten.Now why is it that the oil scandal and the Daugherty scandal are going to make much difference in the coming election? I've been puzzling my head over this ever since I set foot on shore. Just because I suppose 75 per cent of the people who think about the question what is the difference between the two parties, don't see enough difference between them so that they may feel that Fall is reasonably typical of the Republican party and unthinkable in the Democratic party. It was anST. LOUIS VIEWED of Industry in This Sec-

Festus J. Wade.GEOLOGIST TELLS OF IRON ORE DEPOSITSTransportation and Huge Stores of Coal Near Here
Also Discussed by Various Representatives.Representatives of the various phases of capital that must combine to form the steel industry
were brought together at Hotel Jefferson last night at a dinner given by Festus J. Wade, president of the Mercantile Trust Co., and the prospects of St. Louis as a steel center were discussed.A geologist pointed out the rich iron ore deposits in Southern Missouri and Northern Alabama. A transportation expert told how the raw material could be easily and cheaply transported here by rail and water. A coal operator discussed the huge stores of coal in the Illinois fields and the high grade of metallurgical coke produced from it. Finally a steel manufacturer summarized the situation and viewed St. Louis as the future steel center of the United States. Bankers, representative of the capital that must go hand in hand with the enterprise, were also present.Plan to Interest Capital Here.
The purpose of the dinner, Harry Scullin, president of the Scullin
Trust Co., said today, was the first step toward interesting St. Louis capital in local steel ventures.
There was nothing to say immediately, he said, but St. Louis, with a great opportunity standing on its doorstep, had an exceptional chance to entertain it.The geologist, D. E. Mitchell, former president of Cumberland University, declared his observations convinced him that 50,000,000 tons of iron ore lay hidden in a 1,500,000-acre tract in Northern Alabama. That tract, he asserted, contained more ore than the known deposits of the world put together.
It was easily accessible to St. Louis by both river and rail, he pointed out.Mitchell forecast the exhaustion of the Mississippi River as a source of iron ore.The dinner was given in honor of
J. A. Panton, A. O. Backert and
Charles J. Stark, owners of nine
iron and steel trade publications,
who today began a survey of St.
Louis and surrounding territory
with a view of determining its fitness to become a steel center. Each addressed the meeting.United States Senator R. L.
Owens of Oklahoma said that St.
Louis was in a position to supply
the increasing need for steel in oil
operations in the Southwest. He said he regarded the city as ideally
situated to undertake the manufacture of steel on a large scale
with raw materials at hand and 22
railroads and the Mississippi River
at its doorway.Other speakers were W. G. Maguire, president of the St. Louis
Coal and Iron Co., and W. A. Collins, president of the St. Louis
Coke and Iron Co., vice president of
the New York, Chicago & St. Louis

The St. Louis Coke & Iron Co.
will begin shortly the addition of
its Granite City plant of a blast
furnace and power plant to cost about $2,500,000 that will double
the pig iron production, making it 1200 tons a day, and generate 15-
000 kilowatts of electricity to be sold to Southern Illinois public utility corporations.The company now has a blast
furnace and 80 coke ovens in operation and other improvements
in addition to the new blast furnace and power plant are contemplated, according to W. G. Maguire, president, who expressed the opinion that St. Louis offers the greatest field available for development of the steel and iron industry.When the company completed its plant in 1921 provision was made
for an additional blast furnace and
power plant, part of the equipment for which was purchased at
the time a 1000-horsepower blast
furnace plant today would cost about $4,500,000. Maguire said, but by reason of having part of the equipment an expenditure of only $2-$3,000,000 will be necessary.With the new additions to the plant, which will be completed within a year, the company's investment is brought to about $16-$18,000,000. One for the furnaces is

WOULD REGULATE RADIO
AND WIRE COMMUNICATIONMeeting in Session at Mexico City With Object of Fixing Rates and Bringing About Closer Relations.By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, May 23.— Eduardo Ortiz, Mexican undersecretary of communications, and chairman of the Mexican delegation to the Inter-American Congress on Electronic Communications, was elected permanent president at the inaugural session of the congress, at which President Obregon delivered a speech of welcome to the delegates, yesterday afternoon.During the session, on motion of Charles B. Warren, American ambassador, who presided the American mission, the officers who had been chosen temporarily were made permanent. They include in addition to Senator Ortiz, Oscar Babasava, of Mexico, general secretary, Lieut.
P. F. D. Nagle, U. S. N., secretary for North America; Cecilio Busta-mente de Salazar, secretary for Central America; Pedro Pablo de
Lara, secretary for the West Indies, and Ismael Juarez, of Argentina, secretary for South America.

Purpose of the Congress.

The purpose of the congress,
which was convened by the Pan-American Congress held in Santiago, Chile, in 1922, is approval of a project for an inter-American convention fixing new and uniform regulations and rates for radio, cable, telegraph and telephone services between the countries of the Western Hemisphere.Through uniform regulations of communication it is expected that closer relations between the peopleof the Minnesota fields and the passing of Pittsburgh as a steel center. "St. Louis will live to see the day," he said, "when Pittsburg as an iron and steel center will be nothing but a memory."Scullin pointed to St. Louis as an "island of industry surrounded by natural resources." He said that in his study of its possibilities he found it had the position to assemble the most varied and large quanties, ample labor and a market sufficiently large to be reached expeditiously.

St. Louis Logical Marked.

"As to St. Louis as a market to absorb production, consider the great mid-continent oil fields, the 14,000 miles of waterway tributary to the Mississippi in Missouri, the fact that daily tons and tons of iron, steel and manufactured metal products pass through St. Louis to factories of steel on the West," he added. "It is not logical to believe that with preferential rates and other advantages that may be worked out, St. Louis should be the natural market for this great territory."The dinner was given in honor of
J. A. Panton, A. O. Backert and
Charles J. Stark, owners of nine
iron and steel trade publications,
who today began a survey of St.
Louis and surrounding territory
with a view of determining its fitness to become a steel center. Each
addressed the meeting.United States Senator R. L.
Owens of Oklahoma said that St.
Louis was in a position to supply
the increasing need for steel in oil
operations in the Southwest. He said he regarded the city as ideally
situated to undertake the manufacture of steel on a large scale
with raw materials at hand and 22
railroads and the Mississippi River
at its doorway.Other speakers were W. G. Maguire, president of the St. Louis
Coal and Iron Co., and W. A. Collins, president of the St. Louis
Coke and Iron Co., vice president of
the New York, Chicago & St. Louis
Railroad.$2,500,000 Addition to Plant Planned in Granite City.
The St. Louis Coke & Iron Co.
will begin shortly the addition of
its Granite City plant of a blast
furnace and power plant to cost
about $2,500,000 that will double
the pig iron production, making it
1200 tons a day, and generate 15-
000 kilowatts of electricity to be sold to Southern Illinois public
utility corporations.The company now has a blast
furnace and 80 coke ovens in operation and other improvements
in addition to the new blast furnace and power plant are contemplated, according to W. G. Maguire, president, who expressed the opinion that St. Louis offers the greatest field available for development
of the steel and iron industry.When the company completed its
plant in 1921 provision was made
for an additional blast furnace and
power plant, part of the equipment for which was purchased at
the time a 1000-horsepower blast
furnace plant today would cost about
reason of having part of the equipment an expenditure of only $2-$3,000,000 will be necessary.With the new additions to the plant, which will be completed
within a year, the company's investment is brought to about $16-$18,000,000. One for the furnaces is to be obtained from Northern as well as Southern fields.of both Americas will be established and the ideals of Pan-Americanism will be promoted.
The proposed inter-American convention, which will be submitted by the respective governments
through the Pan-American Union, it is expected, will be supplemented with recommendations for reforms modernizing the international radio convention adopted at the London conference in 1913 in which the United States and European countries were the only participants.Mexican Proposals.
The most complete program which will be submitted to the congress is that sponsored by the Mexican delegation. In addition to supporting the project for an inter-American convention, the Mexican program calls for a franking privilege for diplomatic and consular messages, and, failing that, a 50 per cent reduction in rates to these messages.Another Mexican proposal will be establishment of a network of landwire communications by the linking up at frontiers of wire systems. Another proposal is for the development of super-power wireless stations linking the nations of the two Americas.The American delegation is headed by Representative Wallace H. White Jr. of Lewiston, Me., and Allen Babcock, and includes a large number of technical experts representing the army, navy, state department, shipping board and commercial interests.BILL INCREASING 300,000

JUSTICE, BLOODY OR BLOODLESS

by the now lamented Victor Bert. Kirk La Shelle's book, which is used apparently without editing, shows the possibilities of a show that existed before automobile prohibition and mah jongg. As far as it went, the performance was thoroughly enjoyable. The plot of the big chorus was admirable—the play gives work for the men as well as the girls. The chorus marched and sang with such precision.

BY CARLOS F. HURD.
FOR an hour and a half last night, the clouds hovered not far above the tops of the big trees at either side of the Municipal Theater stage. They were so near, and so ready to release their contents, that it seemed as if a robust blow on the bass drum, or the concussion of a photographer's flashlight, might start the rain which everyone knew was coming presently to curtail the Municipal Opera season.

Daintily and dew-like drops drifted down on cheeks and palms, and as these atmospheric reminders grew more frequent, near the end of the first act of "Princess Chic," those who had raincoats slipped into them. After the first intermission, hats and cape went on and stayed on. But everyone was happy except to exchange seats a second time, rain having prevented the scheduled opening on Monday night. At 9:45, near the end of the second act, when most of the best music had been heard, and when the new principal had been auspiciously introduced, the real rainfall began, not violently but unmistakably, and as the audience rose, the stage was darkened, leaving the performers still talking.

It was not drenched and bedraggled crew, but a cheerful gathering, which sought the porgeolas and houses, neither in good humor, but in the way home, for those who had farthest to go, is a question on which no judgment can be offered here.

"Princess Chic" is about the days of chivalry, when knights were as well as jesters. Princess Sheila, who might better have been called, for the royal young person goes a-vi-ling to a neighboring court, disdaining herself as a man, and, of course, fooling everybody. When the Princess and the Duke of Burgundy come to an understanding in a military way, their various do not hesitate to clasp hands upon the King of France, who is present though not with anything like 10,000 men, and to start him for a dueler.

Whether King Leove gets out of his dungeon and whether the Duke and the Princess ever come to an understanding, is a matter of military understanding, which will doubtless be shown to-night, or the first time that a complete performance is given.

Princess "Chic" is a play of the Olympic Theater very early in the present century, my recollection is that these matters are happily dispensed of, though the chief refinement of that production is Marguerite Silva's eyes, and her arm's appearance in the hose and doublet which, in those days, made quite a daring costume for a star.

Prima Donna Charming.
Dorothy Francis, in the role of the Princess, made a debut unimpaired by the overhanging clouds. Her voice had purity and strength, and her appearance, in the two elaborate costumes seen—she would have been the last in the last act—was charming. Rosamond Whitehead showed piety and staid training in an ingenu role. Flavia Arcora had one most pleasing song, in which her contralto voice was richly rewarded.

Comedy parts were supplied generously by the makers of "Princess Chic," the more or less refined antics of two stewards being haltingly executed by the low-comedy work of a pair of wretches. Raymond Crane, as the Duke's steward, emphasized the first syllable of his title, and expressed indignation eloquently with his legs. W. J. McCarthy, as the Princess's steward, based effective comedy work on an amusing vocal quality. Delmar Poppen and Roland Woodruff, as kitchen valets, carried on laughably, even in a "merry and a shepherd" dance. Thomas Conkey and Ralph Kroll had roles of dignity and vocal requirement.

The single setting, a castle courtyard, was not of scenic distinction, but appeared to be in "merry and a shepherd" dance. Thomas Conkey and Ralph Kroll had roles of dignity and vocal requirement. VACATION IN COLORADO

The Playground of the Nation

Denver is the Gateway to 12 National Parks and 32 National Monuments. Colorado has 2 National Parks—Rocky Mountain and Mesa Verde—and 15 National Forests with 8000 miles of fishing streams and over 500 lakes. Over 800,000 visitors enjoyed Denver's Mountain Parks last year. This four-hour trip from Denver, with a side trip to Echo Lake in the Mount Evans Region, is one of the most beautiful mountain trips in the World. Unusual Tales
Adventure, Tragedy, Mystery, Humor
From Real Life

By Robert Welles Ritchie.
THE CIRCUS AT BUTTE CITY.

I THINK there is what the French would call "a sadness" in this tale. Maybe not.

It has to do with what occurred in Butte City, Cal., not so long ago; and, perhaps, with something which cannot quite define itself in words—that thing which Maupassant emphasized as "the sadness of life."

You must know that Butte City is not quite a city. Perhaps once away back in the Sixties its founders fondly hoped that what they had there was the makings of a city; but their guess went sour. Butte City today boasts a short street of stores, an "opery house," a bridge across the Sacramento River—and that's about all. There's a double score of California towns which cannot vaunt more. This is set down with no disrespect to Butte City.

The last time I visited Bill Guilford, genial proprietor of the Ranch of the Thousand Doors at Butte City—and no better cook of ducks ever breathed the breath of life—his town was all torn up by the circumstance that two rival attractions offered their respective bids for a Saturday night's entertainment—a circus and an out-skirts with an imposing cavalcade of five wagons, one of which contained behind its shutters a real—though elderly—lion. The dramatic outfit came in two Fords, with trailers to carry the scenery. There was the "opery house."

Over ducks stuffed with wild celery, Bill and I debated which of the two shows we should patronize. The circus had the unanimous eyes. We got there a little late.

Though from Bill's house, we had heard the circus band playing during the meal, we had no deliberate intention of emulating the late arrivals at the Metropolitan in New York and sweeping grandly to our seats, to the disturbance of the rest of the audience.

Far from that. We discovered when we arrived at the circus grounds that they were taking down the "main top" and preparing to make a night shift. There would be no performance because of no paid admissions. All of Butte City and its environs had gone to see the show at the opery house. Bill and I were the only would-be patrons of the circus.

Vainly did we offer $10—aye, $15—if the circus man would put on a special show for ourselves. Fruitlessly did we display $5 bills for the privilege—exclusive though it might be—of viewing the lion. The proprietor was adamant. Butte City was a hum town and he was going to get out.

During our colloquy with the disgruntled circus man, two children joined us under the gasoline flare. One we mistook for a girl.

"Aw, h—l," deadpanly the younger interposed when we happened to address him hap-hazardly as "Clara," me name is Jim. Mother makes me wear me hair that way because I have to be the angel in the tableau."

My friend Bill had an inspiration: could we take Jim and his elder brother Bill, who played the alto horn in the circus band, to witness the rival attraction at the opery house while the circus was packing up? Grudgingly papa said "yes."

So the tableau angel Clara—nee Jim—and Bill, the alto horn blower, accompanied Bill Guilford and myself to the rival attraction as guests. I fear they were super-critical.

For between the acts, you see, the "juvenile" of the theatrical troupe passed among the audience and sold, for the trifling sum of fifteen cents each, certain prize packages of candy. Bill and I bought largely of these prize packages for our wards.

At the first shot the little fellow we'd slandered by the name of Clara found a safety razor in his package, and his brother, the alto horn player, caught what used to be known as a "lambrequin"—something to throw over a piano.

At the second round of prize packages purchased, the little one discovered in his box a small copy of "Child's Stories from the Bible," the elder of the two—wise in many years of circus life—found he'd drawn a toy boat to float in a bathtub—and he'd never seen a bathtub.

The circus brothers quit us cold, then and there.

Why Men Make Good

"YES, the reason the majority of men stay honest and make good is as old as time. And most men are making good, in spite of what you read in the newspapers. It is not news when a man wins slow and sure success, therefore don't blame the papers. The very fact that it is news when a man goes wrong proves most of them are making good."

¶ The doctor was speaking; he continued: "And the reason men make good? I know, because I see life with the thin coating of make-believe removed, and it proves that age-old truth—'A nation is as strong as its homes are happy.' Home is the impelling force. Pattering little feet are leading the march of civilization, and dirty little hands are pushing men up the ladder to success."

¶ "Exactly. Like the men who go wrong, they are the exceptions that prove the rule," said the doctor.

THE doctor is right, and the home is the greatest force that spurs men on. "What has that to do with the Mercantile Trust Company?" you say. Just this: Every branch of "Mercantile Service" is a branch of home protection. From the savings account that protects the home today to the Trust Service that protects it afterward, "Mercantile Service" is "home insurance." While the home is spurring men on to success, "Mercantile Service" is making that success come a little easier—a little quicker. We invite you to use "Mercantile Service."

AMBASSADORS AGREE ON NOTE TO GERMANY

They Insist on Survey of Military Resources Before Altering Allied Control System.

PARIS, May 28.—The Allied Council of Ambassadors has agreed on the terms of the reply it will make to the note from Germany relative to the resumption of international control of German armaments, it was announced today.

The text of the reply will be withheld from the public until the note has been received in Berlin. It is known, however, that it adheres closely to the original decision of the Ambassadors that transformation of the Military Control Commission into a committee on guarantees must be preceded by a general inquiry into the state of Germany's military establishment, with a complete inventory of its resources.

The note will demand that the future activities of the control authorities shall cover the five categories listed in the preceding correspondence on the subject. These are:

First, the reorganization of the German police; second, the transformation of munitions factories to peaceful purposes; third, the delivery of the balance of unauthorized war material in Germany's possession; fourth, delivery of documents relating to the war material on hand when the armistice was signed; fifth, the promulgation of laws to put the recruiting organization of the army in harmony with the terms of the peace treaty.

When the German Government shall have facilitated the inquiry demanded and accepted the five categories of activities for the military control system, then the military control, the Ambassadors say, will be transferred to the Committee on Guarantees and placed at the expense of the allies.

Middlekamp Files for Auditorship
Jesse H. Middlekamp, of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, filed today for the Democratic nomination for the office of State Auditor. Middlekamp, who served as State Treasurer from 1917 to 1921, was the Democratic nominee for the State Auditorship in 1922.

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S FIELD DAY TOMORROW

Music and Exercises at Sportsman's Park—Athletic Contests at Francis Field.

A chorus of 1200 boys and girls, with hundreds of children in the combined grade school orchestras and a band of 50 men, will furnish the music for a drill of 1000 boys and girls, and a parade of 1000 girls at the grade school Field Day exercises to begin at 1 p. m. tomorrow at Sportsman's Park, simultaneously with the high school contests at Francis Field.

The music and physical education departments of the public schools have been co-operating for some weeks in preparing this new feature of the annual event. Another new thing in the grade school exercises will be a mass maypole procession and a dance around 25 maypoles of groups of 19 girls each.

Dismissed at 11:30 A. M.

row of children who take part in the exercises amounts to closing the schools, since virtually all the school children have some part. Schools will be officially closed from noon until Monday morning, since Friday is Decoration Day.

The grade school athletic contests include a 50-yard dash, a standing broad jump and a basket ball throw for distance for seventh and eighth grade boys and girls under 15 years old. A shuttle relay race will be open to boys under 14 with no grade restriction.

Competition by Teams.
Competition will be by teams of 10 members. The performance of each team and each member will be graded to a maximum of 100 per cent. The team whose 10 members most nearly approach the standards set in the various events and which therefore makes the highest average will receive a banner as the winning team, and each member will receive a button.

Admission will be free, since one purpose of the first day is to demonstrate what the schools accomplish toward physical development. Francis Field, where the High School contests will be held, is at the western end of Washington University campus, near the Pennsylvania avenue loop of the University-olive car line. Sportsman's Park is reached by Grand boulevard car and bus lines (north) to Dodier street.

Steamer and Tanker Collide.

ELIMINATING 12,000 DUPLICATES

"Rush" Hours

A CHART THAT TELLS A STORY

Solid line shows "Cabany" calls each hour of the day—broken line shows "Main" calls.

Graphic stories of St. Louis life are told by the "Call" chart compiled recently for the Main and Cabany central offices.

At Cabany, a typical residence central office, an average of almost 4,000 telephone calls are made between seven and eight in the morning. Between eight and nine there are 11,000, but between nine and ten the total jumps to more than 16,500. The average falls to about 14,000 between ten and eleven and then drops to about 6,000 during the noon hour.

The number of calls gradually increases through the afternoon, an average of 8,500 calls being made between four and five o'clock. Between seven and eight in the evening more than 10,000 calls are made. Anyone can guess the purpose of those last 10,000 calls.

A Different Story
Main tells a far different story. Before eight o'clock in the morning but a few hundred calls are made each hour. But promptly at eight o'clock, as the industrial office people come to work, the average hourly calls begin to soar. Between eight and nine 6,000 calls are made and between nine and ten about 11,000—this average being maintained the rest of the morning. Everyone doesn't go to lunch at the same time, as is evidenced by the fact that 8,000 calls are made during the noon hour. This average rises gradually until it reaches 10,000 during the hour from three to four.

Telephone calls are one of the best barometers of business and social activities. Trained observers watch the activities of all switchboards, and the operating forces are adjusted to meet the requirements of each hour of the day.

Supremacy

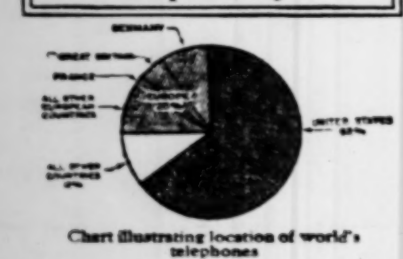

Chart illustrating location of world's telephones

There are about 24,000,000 telephones in the world and of this number approximately 15,000,000 are in the United States.

Thus, with 6% of the world's population, this country has almost two-thirds of the world's telephones.

COUNTY IS UNIFIED

With the unification of the Ferguson central office in the early part of May, the two telephone systems in St. Louis county have been completely merged and all duplicate telephones removed.

One Telephone Replacing Two

Before the merger of the Bell and Kinloch Systems, telephone subscribers in St. Louis requiring complete telephone service required two telephones.

Unification is making possible the removal of duplicate telephones in 12,000 homes or offices where the daily number of calls makes only one telephone necessary.

This elimination of duplicates means a substantial saving to subscribers, although it is reducing the annual revenues of the telephone company about $450,000.

Other Side of Story

The other side of the story from the standpoint of subscribers is the increased usefulness of every telephone remaining after the merger.

Every time another telephone is added to your talking range it makes the service that much more valuable.

Unification of the Bell and Kinloch Systems has brought about a growth in telephones which neither one of the Systems could have attained for many years.

In midsummer, when the merger is completed, your telephone will connect with 165,000 others in Greater St. Louis.

SERVED COMPANY BEFORE TELEPHONE WAS INVENTED

LOUIS H. HELSHER
Louis H. Helsher, paymaster of this Company, has a service record that dates back to three years before the telephone was invented. When eleven years of age he was a messenger for the American District Telegraph Company. When this organization established a telephone exchange, Helsher was transferred to the new organization. He has been with this Company ever since.

KINLOCH EQUIPMENT

Practically all Kinloch equipment is being used in unification. A large number of Kinloch telephone instruments are being modified to make them function efficiently with Bell apparatus, and modifications in other equipment are being made when needed.

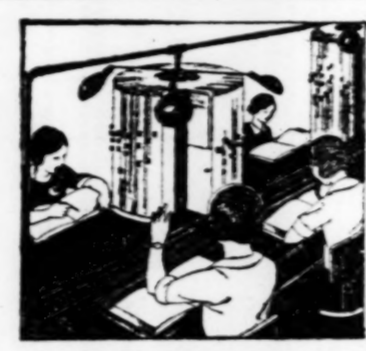

The switchboard at "Central" has been enlarged until now it is one of the largest in the world. Extending entirely around the big operating room it has a capacity for about 18,000 telephone numbers. It will be one of the important downtown exchanges. Enlargements have cost about $180,000.

TELEPHONE STATISTICS

1905—One telephone to 34 persons.
1910—One telephone to 16 persons.
1915—One telephone to 11 persons.
1923—One telephone to 7 persons.

After the merger, one to every six persons in St. Louis

"Information"

Sketch of "Information" operators at new board in the Kinloch Building

"Information", to the average telephone user, is a young lady who responds to requests for new or changed numbers. Actually, "Information" is a special switchboard on the third floor of the Kinloch building, which requires each day the services of 88 people. During busy hours there are as many as 30 operators on duty.

A short time ago the board was in the Main-Olive building and had provision for but twenty-four operators. From December to March, however, the daily average of information calls increased from 11,000 to 13,000 and new quarters were needed.

If the telephone directory in the hands of each subscriber could be moved from hour to hour, there would be no need for the information operator. Even during its printing and binding many changes take place in a telephone community. New subscribers are added, and old ones move their places of business or of residence.

40,000 Changes

To gain 1,000 new subscribers the Company ordinarily installs 4,000 telephones and removes 3,000—making 7,000 number changes in such a gain. This is about one month's business. A new directory is issued in St. Louis every six months, and in that time about 40,000 changes accumulate. While changes are accumulating they are noted on filing cards kept in the large rotary files which are so placed as to be accessible to each of the 30 operators on duty.

Of the 88 people who provide "Information" service in St. Louis, 63 are operators, 10 stenographers, 7 clerks and 8 supervisors. This force will gradually increase as the traffic increases.

SPRIT OF SERVICE

A few years ago a severe snow storm visited St. Louis. The next morning a local business man, on the way to his office, overtook a girl struggling through the drifts. He helped her for a few blocks and then said, "This is too much for me. I am going to turn back. I can do my business by telephone, anyhow. You'd better go home, too."

"No," said the girl, "I'll keep on, I'm a telephone operator."

NEW PROHIBITION INQUIRY ORDERED

House Committee, With Membership of "Drys," to Go Into Enforcement Situation.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 28.—A brand new congressional investigation, directed at prohibition enforcement, was determined upon today by the House Alcoholic Liquor Traffic Committee, which had not previously held a meeting in five years.

Acting under its general authority, the committee designated a subcommittee with instructions to go into all phases of the liquor law situation, including rum smuggling and charges of abuse of the permit system.

Chairman Cable of the committee declared, however, that the investigation would be conducted without expense to the taxpayers, and indicated that the subcommittee would seek information chiefly from State and Federal officials charged with enforcement of the prohibition law.

The subcommittee members include some of the leading drys in the House. The members are Representatives Hudson of Michigan and Smith of Idaho, Republicans; Upshaw of Georgia and Box of Texas, Democrats; and Kvale, Independent, Minnesota.

Information is to be obtained as to the extent of liquor smuggling, the failure of officials to enforce the law, the decrease or increase in drunkenness, the permit system, the operation of breweries and alcohol denaturing plants, and the probable effect of modification of the prohibition law.

WRIT TO COMPEL HEARING OF DIVORCE CASE SOUGHT

Fight Against Use of Investigators by Domestic Relations Court—Renewed.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 28.—An application for a writ of mandamus to compel Circuit Judge Cassing of the Domestic Relations Court of St. Louis, to try the divorce case of Robert Bracy against Nettie Bracy without the plaintiff submitting to inquiries by special investigators of the court, was filed in Supreme Court today by D. W. Robert, attorney of St. Louis.

This action is a renewal of the fight against the use by the Domestic Relations Court of a staff of investigators to look into the circumstances surrounding divorce cases. The Supreme Court recently denied a writ of prohibition seeking to stop such an inquiry in the Bracy case.

The case now is set for trial June 22. It was continued from May 22, when Judge Cassing is said to have refused to hear the case unless the plaintiff submitted to examinations by the investigators. This practice of employing a staff of investigators was condemned in a report by a committee of the St. Louis Bar Association. The petition filed today by Robert also was signed by Guy A. Thompson, president of the State Bar Association; Dwight Currie, president of the St. Louis Bar Association; and W. L. Sturdevant, former president of the St. Louis Bar Association.

COCOS ISLAND TREASURE HUNT FAILS TO FIND HIDDEN GOLD

By the Associated Press.
VANCOUVER, B. C., May 27.—Reports received here indicate that the efforts of the little steamer Gunner, which sailed from Vancouver last winter for Cocos Island in the Indian Ocean in search of chests of gold supposed to have been hidden in that vicinity by revolutionaries many years ago, have been unsuccessful.

The expedition carried all necessary working implements, including a metal detector, an invention of a Vancouver man. The detector was truthful in pointing to metal, great masses of which were uncovered. But it was the debris of some previous treasure-hunting expedition, iron shovels, tin cans, wheelbarrows, pick-axes and so forth.

The search was pressed until supplies ran low, forcing the fortune-hunters to sail for Vancouver. They are expected here late in May.

LEONARD WOOD JR., MISSING
Last Seen in Paris Five Days Ago.

Copyright 1924 by the Press and Publishing Co., the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.
PARIS, May 28.—Reports have been circulating here that Leonard Wood Jr., son of the Governor-General of the Philippines, has disappeared on some mysterious mission, but these rumors appear greatly exaggerated.

Paris police officials saw him five days ago when he complained that a friend—said to be a British Captain—had left Paris without paying his share of the expenses they had incurred jointly. The sum was said to be several thousand francs. The police told young Wood they could do nothing about it and advised him to see the American Ambassador. It is suggested Wood has gone to London.

Higher Bond for Police Secretary.
Increase of funds of the Police Relief Association is expected to result in the raising of the bonds of the association's secretary from $5000 to $25,000 by the Executive Committee Saturday. Due to the success of the annual police circus and a low death rate in the department, the $5000 bond is no longer considered adequate. The association pays the bonding fee.

TURN TO NARCOTIC USERS FOR SLAYER OF FRANKS BOY

Chicago Police Begin Roundup of Addicts in the Belief That Their Type Inspired Plot.

NEW CLEW OFFERED
BY A SWITCHMAN

Asserts He Saw Persons in Green Sedan Carry Bundle to Spot Where Body Was Found.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 23.—Investigation of the death of Robert Frank, 13-year-old son of a Chicago millionaire, whose body was found in a railroad culvert last Thursday just before a $10,000 ransom demand was delivered to his parents, assumed a new angle today when officers began rounding up drug addicts for questioning.

Evidence that narcotic users kidnapped the boy at the behest of a well-informed principal has been in the hands of authorities several days, it became known.

According to State's Attorney Crowe, the investigators expect to find some user of drugs sufficiently well acquainted with the movements of the Franks family to have contrived a kidnapping plot and engage someone else to carry out the plan.

"The killing was an accident," the State's Attorney said, "and everything that followed was undertaken to cover the accident. Drugs will be found at the bottom of it all."

Switchman Tells of Green Car.
An account of what he believes was the midnight disposal of the boy's body, was given to the police yesterday by John H. Shackelford, 32, a railway switchman, and caused police to search for a green sedan, in addition to the gray touring car sought since the boy's disappearance. Shackelford said he saw the green car last Wednesday night near where the body was found. One of three men in it carried a bundle, which he thought may have been the body, into the swamp and returned without it. A woman drove the car, he said.

Shackelford was unable to identify two instructors of a private school attended by the boy who have been held since the slaying. Hearings on petitions of habeas corpus for their release were continued yesterday to today, although their attorneys maintained both have given authorities all the information they possess.

Find No Trace of Poison.
A coroner's chemist who made an analysis of the organs of the boy announced definitely today that there was no trace of any kind of poison. Oscar Wolff, coroner, said this strengthened the theory that the boy died of strangulation and hemorrhage.

Shackelford's story was strengthened when two automobile mechanics said they were called on to furnish repair parts for a broken bumper, similar to that Shackelford described, the latter having mentioned that the front bumper was broken. The man who asked for the repair parts was about 35 years old and was tall and slim, they said. With this information the police were searching for this automobile, in addition to the gray car in which the boy was believed to have been spirited away as he was returning from school.

Adolph Papritz, alias Johnson, who owns a gray automobile and answered in a general way the hypothetical description the police have built up of the man who made the ransom demands and who posed as "George Johnson," established an alibi after several hours' questioning, the police announced, and probably will be released today. He was taken into custody yesterday, when the coincidence of his alias and his automobile were called to the attention of the State's attorney's office.

Work of Expert Typists.
A typing expert, after an exhaustive examination of two notes, each signed "George Johnson," one written to Jacob Frank, father of the slain boy, and demanding $10,000 ransom, and the other written to Chief of Police Collins and announcing that the writer was the kidnaper and suicide, said that one note had been written on one make of typewriter and the second on another make. Both were written by expert typists, he said. The police also announced they had other information about the writers of the notes which was not disclosed.

Breakfast toast made at the table—delicately browned and deliciously hot!

IT'S THE toast that makes a perfect breakfast. With a Manning-Bowman Reversible-Door Toaster, you can have it just as you like it. Give the knob a twist, and the toast flips over. No need to touch the toast, no burned fingers! Toasted at the table, it is always deliciously hot.

The Manning-Bowman Reversible-Door Toaster is extra large—it takes a full slice of bread without trimming. It toasts quicker because it has a larger heating element. It toasts evenly and toasts to a delicate brown without drying-out the bread.

You can see this toaster, with other Manning-Bowman electric devices, at hardware and department stores, electric shops, jewelry and gift shops. The toaster is $8.00.

BOTH HYDE AND OLD GUARD FAIL TO GET CANDIDATE

Elimination of Kiel and Doubt About Otis Filing Leaves Field to Three Original Aspirants.

GOVERNOR'S ENVOYS HAVE LABORED LONG

Friends of Lloyd Believe He Is Strongest and Refuse to Have Him Withdraw From Race.

Final elimination of Mayor Kiel as a gubernatorial possibility and increasing probability that Chairman Merrell E. Otis of the Missouri Public Service Commission will not file for the office, makes it highly probable that no other candidate of strength will get into the race for the Republican nomination for Governor.

Three candidates already are in—Lieutenant Governor Hiram Lloyd and Victor J. Miller, former president of the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners, both of St. Louis, and Sam A. Baker of Jefferson City, former State Superintendent of Schools.

This situation does not provide much comfort for Gov. Hyde, Attorney-General Barrett or for the little group of old guard Republican politicians here who have endeavored industriously to get another candidate into the field.

Barrett and the political envoys of Gov. Hyde have labored long and assiduously with Otis. Four or five old line politicians, most of whose power has vanished in developments of the last four years, have played siren with the Mayor. And either Orbach or Kiel, perhaps both, would have gotten into the race if Lloyd would have gotten out. But the Lieutenant-Governor and his friends only were amused by the idea.

Believe Lloyd Is Strongest.

"Lloyd must be the strongest candidate or all these folks wouldn't want him out of the race," reasoned the Lloyd campaign committee. "So we guess we aren't interested in what they do. We'll just go along and make a campaign and see what happens on primary day."

But neither the promoters of the Otis boom nor those who wanted Mayor Kiel to make the race, could find much solace in the Lloyd amusement. For it spelled death to their hopes. Neither could expect to be nominated with Lloyd in the race, but each thought that he could climb the hill if the Lieutenant-Governor retired. But candidates for political honors cannot be shoved out of the way so easily.

Efforts to persuade Otis to run date to about the time Gov. Hyde executed a coup d'etat and hung at his belt the management of the Coolidge campaign in Missouri at the expense of Attorney-General Barrett, who previously had been slated for the job.

Barrett and his friends are inclined to think that the Hyde followers who first urged Otis to run, were bluffing, not intending really to get behind Otis in earnest, but using him merely as a wooden horse to keep Barrett from being a candidate. So Barrett got in to try to make the Hyde men finish what they had started. Barrett is a strong personal admirer of Otis, who was chief Assistant Attorney-General before being appointed to the Public Service Commission.

Neither the Hyde advisers nor Barrett, however, have been able to line up assurances of enough strength to justify Otis in going.

Kiel to Seek Re-election.

Kiel first was urged to run for Governor more than a year ago. He waved it aside. He was going to stand for re-election to a fourth term as Mayor. At intervals the gubernatorial suggestion was repeated. Finally, a few weeks ago, the virus began to take. The Mayor got interested, discussed the advantages and disadvantages to be gained had he run. But he had told Lloyd in the beginning that he would not run. So Kiel is for Lloyd, he says. But the Mayor will continue to receive $10,000 a year instead of the $5,000 he would have received had he gotten over all the hurdles separating him from the Governor's chair.

Only nine more days remain in which candidates may file.

Attacks Compensation Law. Special to the Post-Dispatch. KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 28.—The proposed workmen's compensation law was characterized as injurious by speakers at a dinner given last night by the Kansas City Credit Men's Association. William R. Schneider, St. Louis attorney, said a compensation law was needed badly by the State. "But we cannot have the law drawn by organized labor, for organized labor and without consulting the employers," he said. "It is the most radical compensation law ever proposed, and if passed will make it impossible for Missouri industry to compete on even terms with industries in other States." E. R. Reeves, St. Louis, general secretary of the Associated Industries of Missouri, also spoke against the proposed law.

Thousands of former rheumatic sufferers are now praising Alessandro Volta, the well-known Italian physicist (for whom the electric volt is named) and his discovery which he has called Volta. Volta is a scientific combination of certain ingredients which its discoverer has compounded into a fine powder. This powder is not taken internally, but is shaken into the shoes, from which it is intended to be absorbed into the blood stream through the myriad pores of the feet. This absorption is due, no doubt, to the fact that the feet contain 10 times as many pores to the square inch as are found in any other part of the body. The secret of Volta powder to relieve rheumatic pain so quickly is due to its tendency to eliminate excess Uric acid which poisons the system (through the blood) and thus causes the tortures of Rheumatism. The use of Volta powder has demonstrated such astonishing results in literally thousands of cases, many of which were considered hopeless, that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense Volta to rheumatic sufferers in this city with an unqualified guarantee to return the full purchase price on the first box in any rare case where the rheumatic pains are not wonderfully relieved. All who suffer from rheumatic pains, no matter how long-standing their cases may be, should take immediate advantage of this liberal offer. Spalla Is After Victor in Go at Michigan City

Latest Invader Probably Will Be Groomed for Dempsey Bout.

By Fair Play.

NEW YORK, May 25.—This Ermino Spalla is a pretty husky looking guy. While he isn't due to start active training until late in the week, he did show his stuff to the scribes over in Brooklyn yesterday and there is no doubt that he has a lot of clever stuff.

How he can hit is best evidenced by the fact that he put Firpo down for a count of three, according to the newspaper reports. Spalla himself says a man could have counted 15 while this count of three was being waved up and down.

Undoubtedly Spalla is a good prospect and it looks as though Nick Kline is going to be the back. Already Nick has stuck out his chest and suggested to Tex Rickard that he raise the ante on the proposed Spalla-Tunney battle or else get out of the way and let a real promoter talk terms.

If the Carpenter-Gibbons fight turns out to amount to anything Spalla will go after the winner. He says, however, that Carpenter had no anxiety to meet him in Europe and does not expect him to show a change of front here.

Spalla says he would like to meet Firpo in a return battle in this country, such fight leading up to a battle with Dempsey. "I think I have anything to say about Spalla's career in this country, and the chances are he will have the big Italian in line in shape generally to excite the nations of the earth over the prospects of the great bout."

Henry Leonard, according to the decision of the New York Boxing Commission, must meet certain opponents in his class who are to be selected by a jury of promoters. Leonard's fight on the basis of an elimination tournament, according to the Boxing Commission's suggestion.

Probably another jury will be organized to appoint these trial bouts off among Rickard, Jimmy Johnston, Flaherty and other members of the jury number 1.

Washington U. Has New Tennis Star

Jack Forester Won 7 Out of 8 Matches in Dual Meets.

A new tennis star has been discovered at Washington University. He is Jack Forester, former County High School champion, and now a junior at the Pikeville institution. In addition to winning seven out of eight singles matches in dual meets with conference colleges Forester made an excellent showing in the recent Missouri Valley Conference tournament at Lincoln, Neb.

Forester lost to Murr Rogers, the Kansas University captain who won the valley singles title. This was in the round before the semifinals. Rogers had plenty of competition when he met Forester and finally won in three sets, the score being 6-4, 6-3, 10-8.

The Pikeville star had two chances to win the match in the third set. He led at 7-6, but dropped the next game. His next chance, almost sure one, took place with the score 6-7 in his favor and a lead of 4-15 on the game. Rogers, however, was very steady, taking advantage of opportunities for placement shots, and finally winning the set, 10-8. It was quite a match for the Kansas star, who has played all around the Missouri Valley without defeat. He ranks second in Kansas City.

Forester has a one chop stroke and occasionally uses a top spin drive with success. He volleys well but needs improvement in backhand strokes. In a number of matches his reverse twist service has been effective, but he will have to change it next year because it is a little out of style. Forester lacks aggressiveness in his playing. This may be overcome by more tournament experience.

TENNIS UMPIRES IN MEETING TOMORROW TO DISCUSS DUTIES

The umpires who will handle the National Clay Courts tennis championship during the week of July 9 to 12 will hold a meeting tomorrow night at the Triple A Club. Dr. Edgar M. Carson, chairman of the District Umpires Committee, will preside. The meeting will commence at 8 p. m.

The gathering will be the first of a series to be held during the coming month. An outline of the duties of the umpires will be given and so that all officials may be prepared to render the most efficient service during the clay court event.

Members of various clubs in St. Louis who desire to serve as umpires are requested to attend the meeting. A registered list is being prepared and it will contain the names of all volunteers. From this list umpires, linesmen, net judges and foot-fault judges will be selected. The committee will also arrange to obtain ball boys to serve at the feature matches. According to the policies of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, all members of the Tennis Umpires Association, who serve in the clay court tournament will be admitted free to all matches.

HIGH SCHOOL TRACK PRELIMINARIES TO BE HELD THIS AFTERNOON

The recent heavy rains made it impossible for the preliminaries of the annual high school track meet to be held yesterday afternoon and the officials have decided to attempt to run off all the trials this afternoon, beginning at 4 o'clock. The trials are to be held Thursday afternoon as intended, and is to begin at 1 o'clock.

The trials today will include every division, Senior, Junior and Midget events. To date, the only qualifying round has been the Junior and Midget shot put, held last Friday.

The winner of Thursday's track meet will gain a year's possession of the Cornell Cup, emblem of track supremacy, as the high school principals they ruled when they returned the trophies to competition some months ago.

SUIT OVER PEPPER WILL TO GO TO JURY TODAY

Considerable Time Occupied by Witnesses in Denial of Testimony Affecting Them.

Testimony was concluded yesterday in Circuit Judge Grimm's court in the suit to set aside the will of Mrs. Caroline J. Pepper and the case will go to the jury today. At the hearing yesterday considerable time was consumed by witnesses in making denial of testimony affecting them.

Mrs. Estelle Bushman Barlow of Columbus, Ceylon, daughter of Mrs. Pepper and principal defendant in the suit, denied she attempted to dictate to her mother, as charged by the petitioner, Christian Pepper Bushman, a brother. She denied she influenced her against the plaintiff's wife and daughter, Ruth, or that she made things disagreeable about the Pepper home at 4448 Washington boulevard for her brother's family when they were living there. Likewise she denied putting a smelly substance on the telephone for Ruth to come in contact with or that she knew anything about it.

Says Mother Was Sane. "As to my mother being of unsound mind, I never heard my brother question her sanity until after her death," witness said. Mrs. Barlow declared her mother was sane.

Her brother resumed the stand in rebuttal and made denial that he had guided a ouija board so that it would write a command for Estelle (the defendant) to give him money, as she testified. "It wrote some foolish things but not that," he explained. He also denied he was ever chaff with his mother or that he had refused to take her out automobile riding. He explained that on the occasion mentioned when he did not take his mother out in the machine the tires were punctured and something else was wrong with the car. He denied that his mother had ever given him $5000 at one time and $2000 another, as witness said. "The most she ever gave me at any one time was a check for $2000," he said.

His wife took the stand and denied that she served "skimp" meals to Mrs. Pepper and Estelle. The statement that she would send up to their room one pork chop and one potato for each of them was not true, she said. She declared she always sent them a heaping tray of food. "As for sending them bean soup which they could not eat," said Mrs. Bushman, "that is true, so was the potato soup, of which Mrs. Pepper was very fond. I tried to be conscientious in whatever I did around the house."

Attorney's Testimony. Harry H. Hays, the attorney who drew up the disputed will, explained that Bushman's share was left in trust of his sister because Mrs. Pepper feared if she left it outright to him he would file a suit to nullify the will and ask for a sale, which might result in depreciating the property. Hays declared that much of the realty in the estate, which was appraised by a real estate dealer at $450,000, is mortgaged.

In addition to his interest being left in trust of his sister, Bushman objects to a provision in the will whereby his wife and daughter are prohibited from inheriting his share. He charged undue influence on the part of his sister.

Mrs. Pepper, who died four years ago, was daughter of the late Christian Pepper, wealthy tobacco merchant. Some years ago she obtained a divorce from F. W. Bushman and resumed her maiden name. At the trial yesterday her daughter produced another will, drawn several years before the one in dispute, in which practically the same provisions are made as in the later will. She said she found the previous will a few days ago.

LARKIN LEAVES DUBLIN

AFTER LABOR UNION ROW

Court Action Brought by Executives of Transport Workers Is Abandoned.

DUBLIN, May 28.—James Larkin, head of the transport workers' union, a number of whose followers were arrested Monday after they had taken possession of the disputed labor headquarters in Liberty Hall, left Ireland last night for an unannounced destination. It was stated in the Chancery Court here today in a hearing on an application for an attachment against him.

A strike of 4000 workers in the port of Dublin was called Monday as a result of the arrest of the Larkinites, but after the men arrested had been released on bail Larkin called off the strike that afternoon.

The applicants for the attachment were members of the Executive Committee of the Transport Workers' Union who recently obtained an injunction against Larkin in connection with the occupation of Liberty Hall. When the case was called today counsel for the applicants said Larkin had left the country last night and the applicants proposed not to go on with the case. The Master of the Rolls assented to this discontinuance.

BANKER DIES WHILE AT BALL GAME

Henry B. Miltenberger Collapses in Eighth Inning of Second Game at Park.

Henry B. Miltenberger, 72 years old, a retired banker, of 5666 Cab-anne avenue, died in his box seat at the Cardinals-Cincinnati baseball game at Sportsman's Park yesterday afternoon.

A physician, who was called,
found Miltenberger slumped in a chair, dead. Surrounding spectators said he had suffered an attack of some nature during the eighth inning of the second game, about 5:20 o'clock.

The physician, Dr. L. E. Bunte of 3610 Washington boulevard, said today that excitement of the game
probably was a contributory cause of Miltenberger's collapse, but that he preferred to let a coroner's jury name the primary cause.

Miltenberger, before his retirement three years ago, had been a teller at the Merchants-Laclede National Bank for 15 years and had been connected with the institution for 45 years. He was a member of an old St. Louis family. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ellen Clendenin Miltenberger, a son,
George Ker Miltenberger; a daughter, Mrs. Eugenia Ustick, and two brothers, George and Guy Milten-berger.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence.

FOUR POLICEMEN INDICTED

Federal Grand Jury in Chicago
Names 24 in Beer Case.

CHICAGO, May 24.—Four policemen, a former prohibition agent and 32 alleged beer runners were indicted yesterday by the Federal grand jury which has been investigating the recent police raid on the Sieben Brewery here when several truckloads of liquor were seized and a score of alleged beer runners were arrested.

The indictments returned before Federal Judge George A. Carpenter, charge violation of the national prohibition laws as conspiracy to violate the laws by possession, sale, manufacture and transportation of beer. The grand jury which returned the indictments is also reported to have made an investigation of the withdrawal from the Sieben Government warehouse here of liquor valued at more than $1-000,000 through the use of forged permits. No indictments have been returned as yet in this case.

strange negro downtown who introduced him to a strange white man and the latter, for a payment of only $25 to cover cost of a uni-

BREAD

A Powerful Story of Today
By Charles G. Norris
(Copyright, 1924.)

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX

"THE responsibility of molding public opinion," went her notes, "rests perhaps with our press, but to whom do the discriminating readers of the nation in confidence turn for the formation of their taste in literature, their acquaintance with the Arts, the dissemination of those inspiring idealistic thoughts and precepts of the fathers of our great?"

She estimated there were another three pages of it. The door of her office opened and a young man of square build, with broad shoulders, and a grin on his face, filled the aperture. "Beg pardon, Miss Sturgis," he began. "I hope you won't think I'm butting in."

He had a strong, handsome face, big flashing teeth, black hair and black eyebrows.

Jeannette looked at him, bewildered. She had never seen this man before, she did not know what he was doing in her office, nor what he wanted.

"I'm Martin Devlin," he announced, advancing into the room. At once she froze; her breast rose on a quick, angry intake, and her eyes assumed a cold, level stare.

"I hope you're not going to be sore at me," he smiled down at her in easy good humor.

"Mr. Corey's not in," said the girl. She was staggered by this individual's effrontery.

"Well, that's too bad, but I really called to have a few minutes' chat with you," he returned nonchalantly. "We have a friend of yours down at our office; Miss Alexander, Beatrice Alexander. Remember her? She says a lot of nice things about you."

"Oh!" Jeannette elevated her eyebrows and surveyed the speaker's head and feet.

"I'm afraid you're sore at me," he said. He laughed straight into her cold eyes, showing his big teeth.

Jeannette straightened herself and frowned. She felt her anger rising.

"Er—you—a—she began, deliberately clearing her throat with a little annoyed cough. "I think you've made a mistake. Mr. Corey is not in. As you see, I am busy. Good-day."

She looked down at her notes and swung her chair around to her machine.

"Whew!" whistled Mr. Devlin. He took a step nearer, put his hand on her desk, bent down to catch a glimpse of her face, and said with a pleading note in his voice and with that same flashing smile: "Aw—please don't be sore at me, Miss Sturgis!"

The man's sudden nearness brought Jeannette up rigidly in her seat. Her eyes blazed a moment, but there was something in this person's manner and in the ingratiating quality of his smile that made her hesitate. Her first thought was to call the porter or one of the men outside, and have him summarily put out. Instead, she said in her most frigid tone:

"Really, Mr. Devlin, you presume too far. You see that I am busy and I've told you that Mr. Corey is not in."

"Well, that's all right, but what do you want me to tell Miss Alexander?" She'll be wanting to know if I delivered her message."

"Miss Alexander, as I remember her, is a very lovely girl. You can tell her that I've not forgotten her, and that I am sorry that . . . that in her office there are not more mannerly gentlemen."

Devlin threw back his head and roared. His laugh was extraordinary.

"Say, Miss Sturgis," he began, "please don't be sore at me. I didn't know I'd find a girl like you in here. Miss Alexander said you were awfully nice and I thought maybe you'd be doing me a favor one of these days. I took a chance on getting in to see you the way I did. Don't blame the kid."

What kid?

"The office boy, I slipped him a quarter and told him to tell you I was an old friend of yours and wanted to give you a surprise."

"Upon my word!"

"Well, you see—we've all got to make our living; you, me and the office boy."

"There are ways of doing it," said Jeannette acidly.

"I think they're all legitimate."

"What—bribing office boys?"

"Well, I didn't bribe him exactly. I deceived him." He laughed again. He was Irish, the girl noted, and presumably considered he had a great deal of Irish charm.

"At any rate, I got in to see you."

"Much good it's done you."

"I have hopes for the future."

"I wouldn't cherish them."

"Ah, well now, Miss Sturgis, don't be cruel!"

"I'm not in the least interested."

"Won't you tell me who's doing Corey's engraving?"

"I will not."

"I can find out easily enough, and I think I can interest him."

"I think you can't."

"Won't you make an appointment for me to see him?"

"Certainly not!"

"There's other ways I can meet him."

"You're at liberty to find them."

"Aw . . . you're awfully mean. Why don't you give a fellow a chance for his living?"

"You don't deserve it."

"Because I gave the boy a quarter to show me which was your office?"

"Yes, and because you're so . . . so . . ."

"Fresh—go on; you were going to say it!"

"Evidently you are aware of it."

"A fellow hasn't a chance to think anything else."

"Well—you'll have to excuse me. I'm really very busy."

"Can I come again when you've a little more time to spare?"

"I am always busy."

"Can I phone?"

"I can't bother with 'phone messages."

Mr. Devlin for a moment was routed.

"Oh, zosh!" he said in disgust.

Jeannette was not to be won. She nodded to him, and began to type briskly, the keys of her machine humming. The man stood uncertainly a moment more, shifting from one foot to the other, then he swung himself disconsolately toward the door, and closed it slowly after him. Almost immediately he opened it again and thrust in his head.

"I'm coming back again—just the same!" he bawled. Jeannette did not look around, and the door clicked shut.

The next time he called she was taking dictation from Mr. Corey and was unaware he had come. When she finished with her employer, and picked up the sheaf of letters he had given her, she passed through the connecting door between the two offices, and found Devlin waiting in her room.

"Really?" She stopped short and frowned in quick annoyance.

"Well, here I am again!" he said blandly.

"And here's where you go out!" She walked toward the door that led to the outer office and flung it open.

Devlin's face altered, and a slow color began to mount his dark cheeks.

"Aw—say—" he said in hurt tones. The smile was gone, for the moment his face was as serious as her own.

Five of the 30 American Women Presented at Court And the Gowns They Wore to Meet English Royalty

Mrs. Howard Donovan of Illinois, wife of the American Vice-Consul in London, above, Mrs. Newton B. Knox of San Francisco, center, and Miss Carol Florney of New York, at the right.

LONDON, May 27.—AMERICAN democracy made its curtsy to British royalty here last week when Mrs. Frank B. Kellogg, wife of the American Ambassador at the court of St. James, presented about 26 American women to their majesties, King George and Queen Mary, in Buckingham Palace at the first two courts of the season, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Those presented Tuesday night were Mrs. Joseph Leiter of Washington, sister of the wife of Frederick A. Sterling, Counselor to the American Embassy in London; Miss Elizabeth Otis of St. Paul, niece of Mrs. Kellogg; Miss Mary Abernathy of Kansas City; Miss Alice Archibald of Minnesota, ward of Ambassador Kellogg's law partner, Mrs. Howard Donovan of Illinois, wife of one of the American Vice-Consuls in her hair and carried a shower bouquet of white flowers.

Mrs. Kellogg presented her niece, Miss Otis, at the first court. The latter was in a fairylike gown of flesh-colored satin, veiled in a white gas-satin fabric beaded delicately with silver and rhinestones. Her court train was of silver cloth lined with flesh-colored satin and sewn around the border with rhinestones.

She wore a wreath of silver leaves in her hair and carried a shower bouquet of white flowers.

Ten U. S. Women Visitors.

Mrs. Thomas Leonard Daniels of the American Embassy at Brussels, also presented by Mrs. Kellogg, was in a striking gown of delicate jade green brocade, with double belt and panel of Byzantine embroidery executed in silver and diamonds. Her court train of two shades of green gossamer was embroidered to match at both corners. Miss Matilda Houghton, daughter of the American Ambassador at Berlin, made her debut in simple white satin with a court train of the same material, embroidered with rhinestones and lined with soft pink lace, while her cousin, Miss Gracia Houghton, wore a light cream satin gown and court train of the same fabric embroidered with pearls and lined with the same material as Miss Matilda Houghton's. Both wore pearls and carried novel bouquets of lavender and white lilies.

Then came 18 American women visitors, whom Mrs. Kellogg presented at the first court.

Mrs. Joseph Leiter chose snow-white satin for her court gown and a cloth of silver train enhanced by priceless rose point lace. She wore a wonderful diamond tiara and pearls and carried a white ostrich fan.

Miss Mary Abernathy attended in white crepe de chine embroidered in sea colors of blue and green with large embroidered blue gown and dress and descending from the neck to the hem of the skirt in back. Her train of white de chine was lined with chamois blue and green and she wore a string of pearls and a diamond bracelet.

Miss Natalie Hammond was in a gown of the palest apricot souper satin with a pink tinge, cut on seventeenth century lines. It was appliqued with tiny garlands of little pastel flowers tipped with crystal. Her court-train was of cloth of silver trimmed with the same garlands, and a posy of old-fashioned flowers of all shades, with a paper frill and old seed pearl earrings, completed her toilette.

Miss Alice Archibald was in a lovely gown of heavy white crepe beaded cut on classical lines, which fell almost straight nearly to her feet. The only trimming was an enormous diamond tassel dangling from her left hip, after catching the simple fabric slightly to the left. Her train of the same fabric was set in below the shoulders with a large silver lace butterfly encrusted with brilliantia, crystals and pearls, from which lines of embroidered crystals rayed down. Her only jewels were silver studs that shone like pearls in her ears, and she carried a royal blue ostrich fan.

Mrs. Howard Donovan of Illinois, who left for New York Wednesday morning after court, appeared in a white sleeveless toilette of crepe de chine cut on straight lines and beaded all over with crystals in tasseled effect. Her court-train was beaded to match at top and bottom and enhanced by capelike draperies of chantilly lace, which are a family heirloom. Her gown was finished with a solid crystal bead girdle and was worn with white and silver brocade slippers. She carried a white ostrich fan.

Mrs. William Dana Orount attended in a beautiful gown of drap d'argent embellished with wheat and poppies and trimmed with diamonds. The gown was caught at the left side with a knot of diamond trimming, and her silver lace court-train lined with drap d'argent fell from her shoulders over a wide silver cape. She wore a lovely diamond pendant and a diamond bird on her corsage and carried a long coral ostrich fan with pearl sticks.

Miss Dorothy Evans-Sewall chose a white satin gown lined with white tulle with pointed panels of silver lace vandyking down the front and sides of her corsage, which was also of silver lace. Her court-train of silver lace was fastened to her shoulders with silver gardenias. She wore a string of pearls and carried an American white satin gown lined with shell-pink, cut on clinging lines and a train to match, hung from the shoulders by pearl ropes, with pearls around the edge. She wore a pearl necklace.

Miss Carol Florney was presented by Viscountess Falkland. She was in a gown of pale pink trimmed with a feather banding of pink shaded ostrich. Her train to match was softly lined with pink chiffon and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley.

At the second court Wednesday night Miss Mimi Brokaw wore white tulle with pointed panels of silver lace vandyking down the front and sides of her corsage, which was also of silver lace. Touched and Luck!

Our tree-trunker touched wood to show the truth in their influence for good. It was that spirit of cooperation and many were convinced.

The custom of "wood" still persists with many of our instinct or just a lazy way of life.

After all, good sense is a far better talisman than wood. You could touch in a life-time, but on savings, not on chance.

Saving money is a fixed and definite amount—no more. It is the systematic saving that counts.

The Savings Department of the Central Trust Company is here to help those who are anxious to save their money and live within their budget.

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

My daughter, hear now the protest of the Wild Bachelor, who arises in his own defense.

Alas, alas! saith the Bachelor, too long have we suffered in sin and in innocence the taunts of the Scoffers.

Too long have ye called us Don Juans and Self-Worshippers. But have seen MUCH Married Men; and the fear of the leash and the collar is upon us!

Go to! What man would remain forever a Singlefooted could find the woman whom he vainly seeketh?

Yes, even a woman who will NOT yearn to be his Guiding Star, his leader and his compass!

A woman who will forbear to "baby" him and "coddle" him "mother" him and "valet" him. For a man abominable to be a moron after thirty years of finding his own collar button.

A woman who will not venture to remodel his ideals, reform his manners and put the frills upon his manners.

Who will not insist upon doing out his carfare to him.

Who will not seek to curb his appetite, nor to direct his diet, nor regulate his meal hours "for his own good."

Who will not strive to "improve his mind" by dragging him to law plays, when he yearneth for the restful sight of a beauty.

Who will not demand the right to select his friends and choose his associates and order the number of his shavings.

Who will not censor his pipe and count his cigars and clean his hand and ring away his old shoes and scatter satchet among his linen.

Who will not demand a NEW excuse and drive him to the invention of new fiction, whenever he is half an hour late.

Who will not eye him with suspicious, whenever his gaze wanders toward the blonde in vamp's clothing.

Who will not establish herself as censor of his letters, an independent committee on his pastimes, a keeper of his conscience and guardian of his digestion.

Yes, verily, verily this is the Impossible Ideal, which every bachelorette in his heart—even a woman who will LET HIM ALONE!

And until he findeth such an one it shall be harder to lure him matrimony than to get a flapper into a corset, a golfer into a trench or a number six foot into a number two shoe!

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Use Clasp.
Don't sew the rosettes on baby's bonnet and jacket, but put them on with snaps. Then they can easily be removed each time the article is washed and put back again with no effort.

Clean Glasses.
Clean glasses mean a lot to the person with poor eyesight. A small bottle containing half ammonia and half water is a convenience, as a drop or two on a clean cloth will make them shine.

Pin It Down.
A hatpin stuck through the spool of cotton and pinned into the arm of the upholstered davenport or chair keeps that elusive ball in its place while we are trying to do some intricate pattern in crocheting.

In Case of Accident.
If you have borrowed a book and are unlucky enough to spill water on some of its pages, slip a blotter on each side of the wet pages and press them with a medium hot iron until they are dry. It will prevent the leaves from crinkling.

CLEAN YOUR PANAMA HAT

It is time to get out that Panama hat and clean it. You can do it easily. In a basin sufficiently deep to immerse the hat, make a suds with some good white soap and hot water; gently rub the hat inside and outside with the suds, using a nail brush and frequently dip the hat under the water. Look carefully for spots and when the hat is clean rinse it in fresh water to which you have added ammonia—about a tablespoonful to each gallon of water. This will do considerable in the bleaching process. Rinse until all the suds are removed.

In the next two rinsing waters put glycerine, using one tablespoonful of glycerine to each quart of water. This will make the hat supple and give the desired gloss. Dip the hat upward and downward in this mixture, then pour some of the glycerine water over it. All the water used should be of the same temperature.

Fold a Turkish towel, lay the hat on it and place it in the direct sunlight, which should be very strong. Mould the hat into shape with the fingers; when nearly dry turn it so the sun can play on all parts of the hat. When perfectly dry the hat will look like new.

If you are idle be not solitary. If you are solitary be not idle.

In Merry May

By SOPHIE IRENE LOEB

THE Spirit of May danced merrily into a magnificent mansion. And found her way into a darkened room. Wise men were holding counsel. Over one who lay in soft down and silken coverlets. Flowers everywhere—perfumed air.

The knowing ones shook their heads and could find no answer to the mysterious malady. And the Spirit of May swept them aside. Took hold of the weary one. "Come with me," she called, trembling with joy. "And let me show the simple remedy." They wended their way through din and turmoil into a crowded corner of a great city. At an open window with a box of flowers. Sat a maiden one communing with the children outside.

"Isn't it wonderful! Now I can open the window and talk to you in the sunshine." And the Spirit said, "Tell me what is in your heart."

"Soon some kind friend will come. And take me to see more greens coming forth. Bursting with bud—in the park. Oh, how it will strengthen my faith. That for me there is still something to come." They lingered and listened to the ecstasy and joy that was engendered in this sordid place. And the satiated melancholy one, who knew only things material, learned a lesson—That great joy can only come from the spirit of sunshine and beauty. Out of the air rather than from man-made things; And that anyone may imbibe the gladness Of the Merry May—like which there is none—As he wills—for there is no price For peer or pauper.

FASHION FRILLS

Lingerie brought from abroad and displayed in the exclusive shops in New York is fancifully trimmed with colored lace medallions. In tints of maize and pale blue and salmon, the underthings are trimmed with cream lace into which are set motifs in lace dyed to match the garment.

The scarf of today in some instances is as big as an old-fashioned shawl. One effective style is in a light color, brilliantly strewn with flowers, while a deep border at each end is dark green, navy or black.

A pump in suede and calfskin now on display in New York gives an unusual effect. The toes and heel are in black calfskin, the rest of the shoe in black suede, and the result—daintily shaped—looks like shoes with galoshes over them.

Trust him with little who, without proof, trusts you with everything or, when he has proved you with nothing.

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Who to temptation pays no heed. For vain regret will have no need.

—Old Mother Nature.

SAMMY JAY is an opportunist. My, isn't this a big world? What it means is that Sammy is one of those who believes in making the most of opportunity. He hadn't intended to steal any eggs that morning. You know, it was his plan to make everybody think that Chatterer the Red Squirrel was the only one who would steal eggs. He knew that if Chatterer was discovered two or three times trying to steal eggs he would be the one to be blamed if some of those eggs were stolen without the thief being seen.

But Sammy had been sitting in a tree where he could look right down in and see the eggs of Mrs. Robin when she left the nest. He had cried, "Thief! Thief! Thief!" the instant Chatterer had started to climb that tree, and he had been the first to chase Chatterer. But as soon as all the other birds had come flocking to chase Chatterer out of the Old Orchard, Sammy Jay had stopped. All the other feathered folk were occupied in chasing Chatterer. No one was watching him. No one was giving him a thought. Here was opportunity. Perhaps he would never have another opportunity like it. Sammy looked this way and looked that way. No one was looking at him. Straight to the nest of Welcome Robin he flew.

There were four eggs in that nest. Sammy's eyes glistened as he looked at them. He dearly loved eggs. Two minutes later there were only some pieces of broken shell in that nest. The feathered folk were all over at the edge of the Old Orchard nearest the Green Forest. Sammy turned and flew in the other direction.

Mrs. Robin was the first to return. You see, she was the one who was most anxious. It was the tree in which her nest was where Chatterer had been discovered. Straight to her nest she flew. For a second she couldn't believe her own eyes. Those eggs were gone! Poor Mrs. Robin! She was heartbroken. At her first mournful cry her neighbors came hurrying back, with Welcome Robin in the lead. When he discovered what had happened Wel-
